Charlie,
Next year we'll be "big seniors" at this cruddy school. (not really) It's been real fun having you in Spanish & in Health class. If it wasn't for you I wouldn't have pasted Spanish. I want you to have fun this summer with all those (good-looking freshmen girls). Don't get into too much trouble drink (water) to much, & don't always remember me because I'll never forget how funny you were. I hope we will always be friends. You're one of the sweetest & coolest boys in the juniors class, (here at West). I'm so glad I got to know you. I hope I get in some classes with you next year because then we can talk & write notes (love). Be Good & Good Luck. Have a nice this summer, if I don't see you.

Love Ya,
Kathy

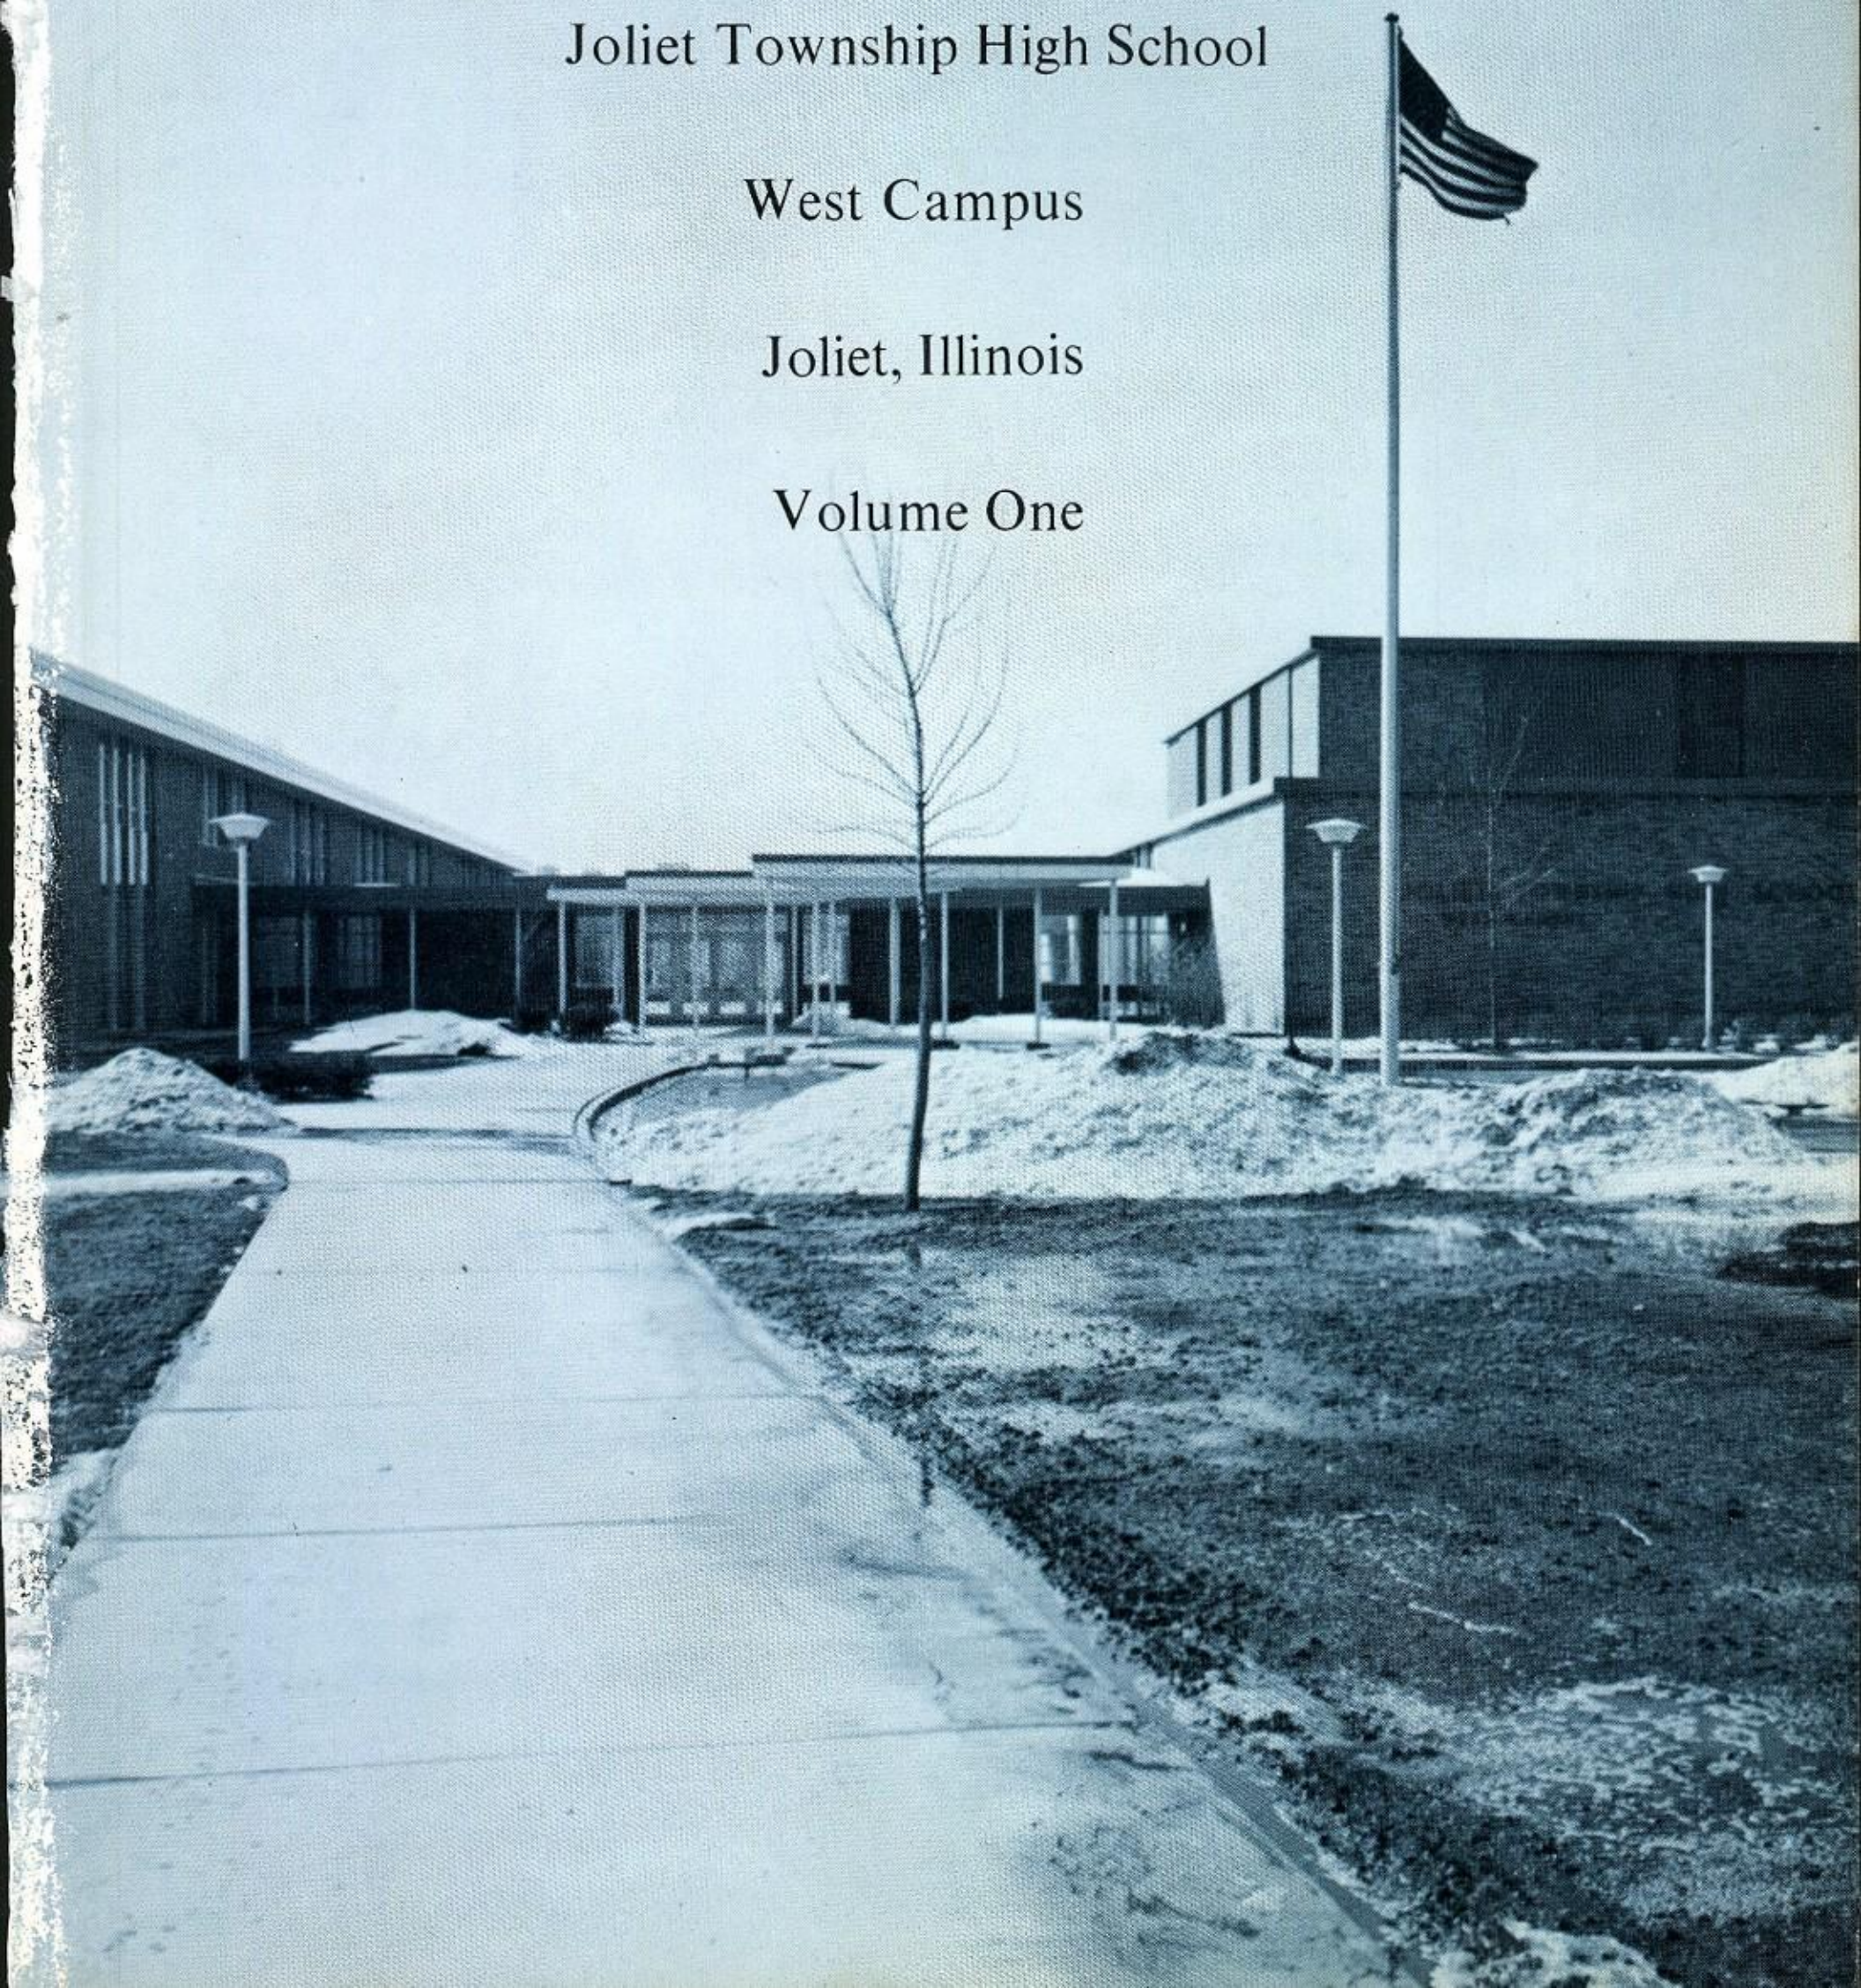
Joliet, Illinois

Volume One



Alpha--The Beginning . . .

In September, 1964, Joliet Township High School, West Campus, opened its doors to students for the first time. This was more than the start of a new school, it was the threshold of limitless opportunities. All that one needed was ambition and stamina.

Organizations began laying the foundation from which traditions and success would soon rise. At this time, as ideas were transformed into realities, we and the rest of the staff realized our goal—the best book possible for West High.

One of the first things to be considered was the selection of a name for this book. For this we turned to the school at large for suggestions. The staff sorted through the ideas submitted and selected the three best. It was from this group that the name AO was chosen.

Alpha Omega, the first and last letters of the Greek alphabet symbolize the beginning through the end. We felt this appropriate, since a yearbook is a memory book picturing an entire school year, the beginning through the end.

The Alpha this year holds a dual significance in that it symbolizes the beginning of a new school, as well as the beginning of a school year. The Omega merely denotes the completion of the first year of what we know will be a long and successful history. We are proud to have been a part of this first year, and we are equally proud to have had the privilege of presenting West with its first yearbook.

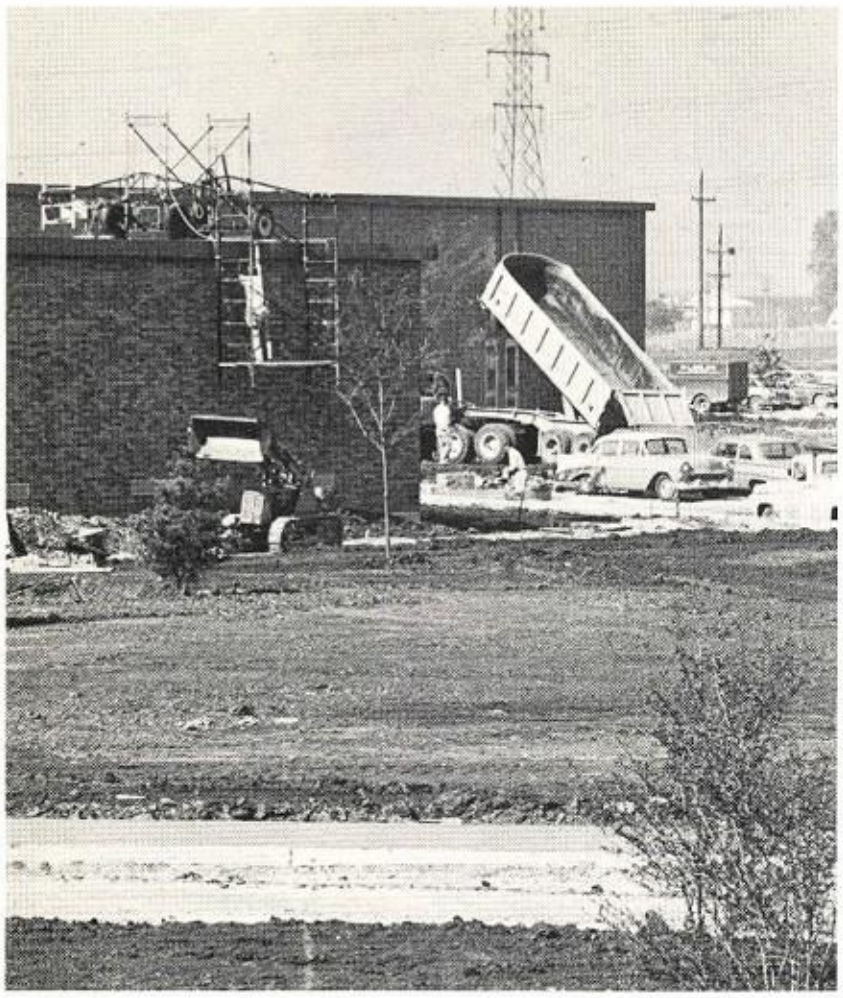
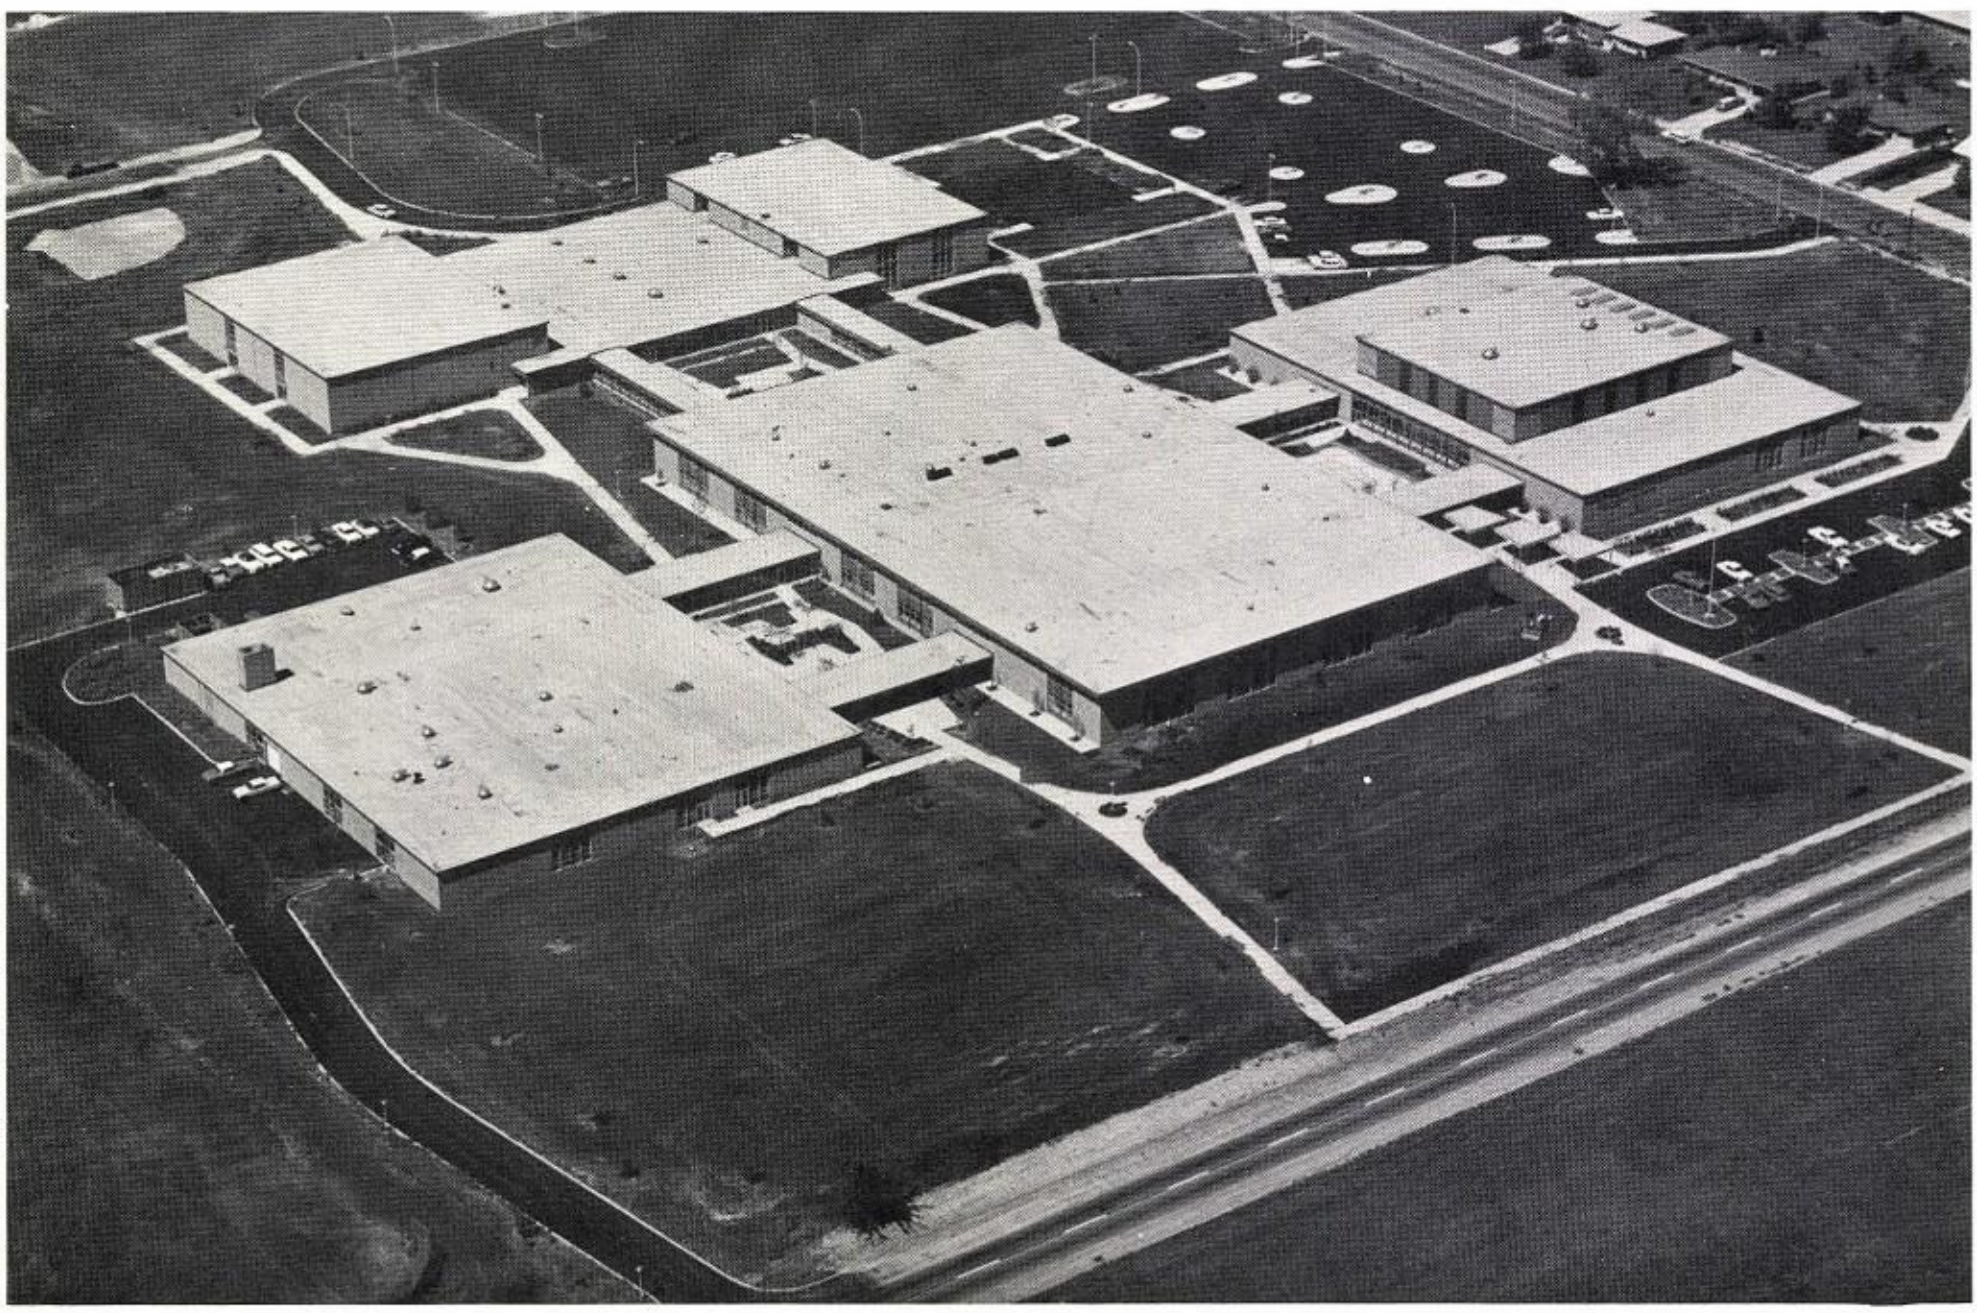
A New School



Dump trucks and scaffolds landscaped the school as construction got well under way.

This was a familiar sight for many months as progress was made toward completion of the interior of the building.



And finally . . . a completed product. This is an aerial view of the fifty acre West Campus as it now stands completed. Extended corridors and courtyards unify the four major buildings into one.

ACADEMIC

Students attain a well-rounded education from the many classes that are offered. This important facet of school life is fulfilled as class after class begins and ends.

Terry Severson — Editor

"Words are but the Signs of Ideas"

Students in English I study Mythology, as well as grammar and composition. David Oliver, Hazel Severson, and Pat Seeman read stories of Greek gods to the class.

Miss Eldred lectures on the fine points of composition and theme writing in her College Prep English Class.

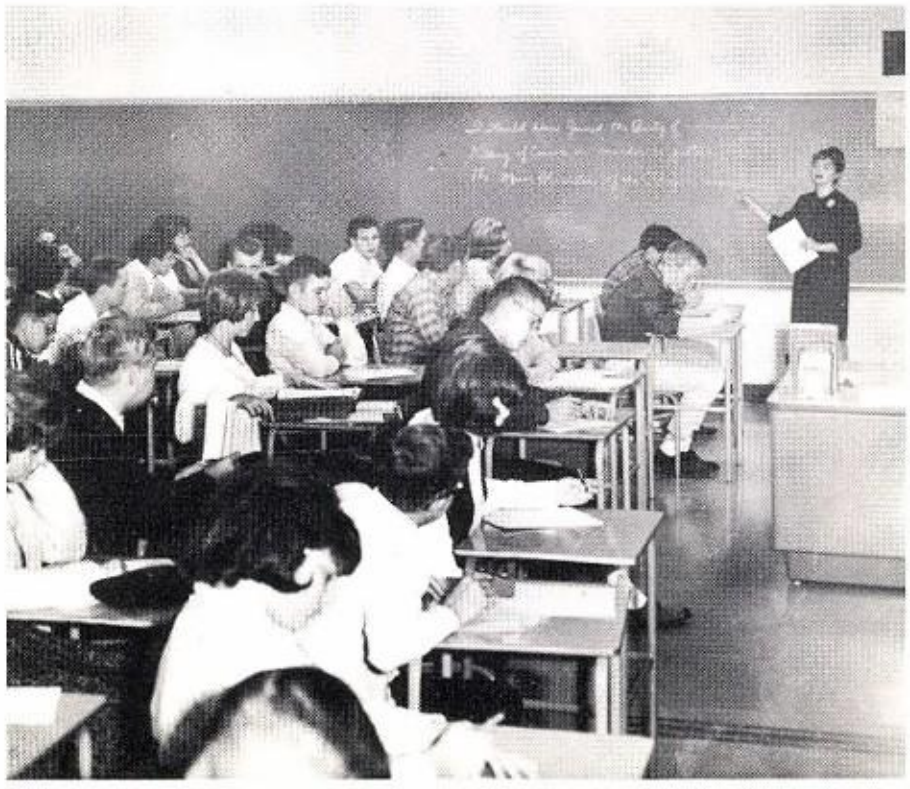
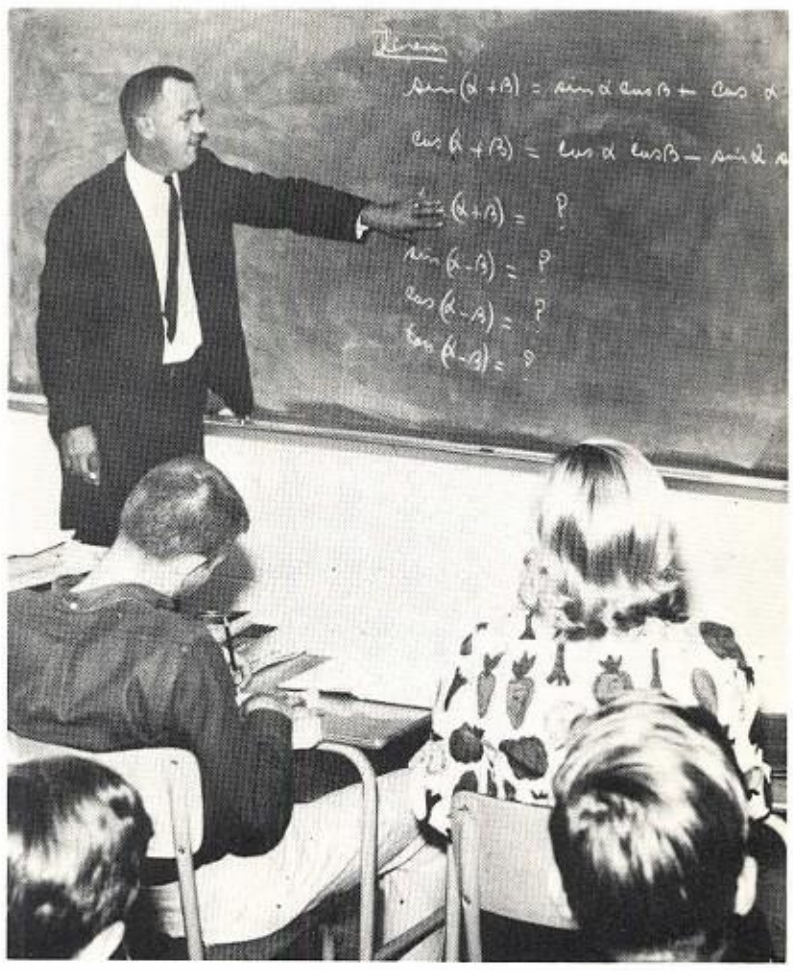
The English Department is working on a special project called "The Sequential Skills Program" in addition to teaching the usual subject matter. This program was developed when it was found that many college freshmen were flunking because of their lack of proficiency in English composition. "The Sequential Skills" program is the result of two years of study and investigation at Central Campus. It stresses writing, reading, listening, speaking, and library skills. Through this program the students at Joliet West High School will be readier to face the challenge of college work.



Mrs. Fritz instructs students in her X English III team-teaching class as to the different topics which they may choose for a theme.

MATHEMATICS, THE LANGUAGE OF SCIENCE

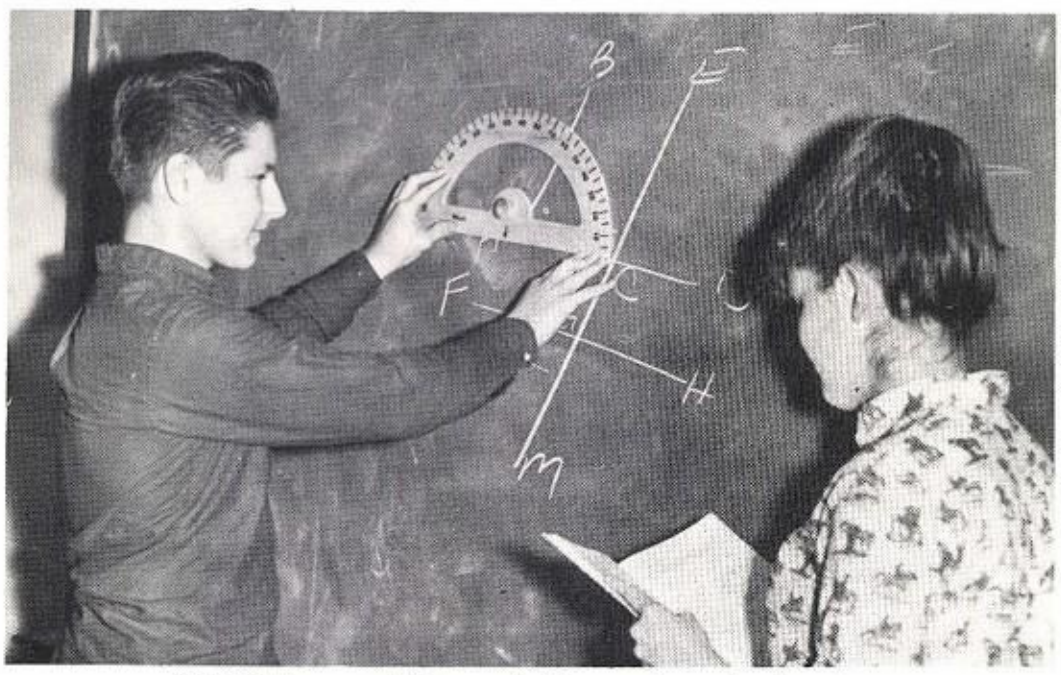
Seated at his desk making out report cards is Mr. Edwards in his GENERAL MATH CLASS. Students in general math classes learn to appreciate our system of mathematics. Here they see how mathematics developed and why the system we use is best.



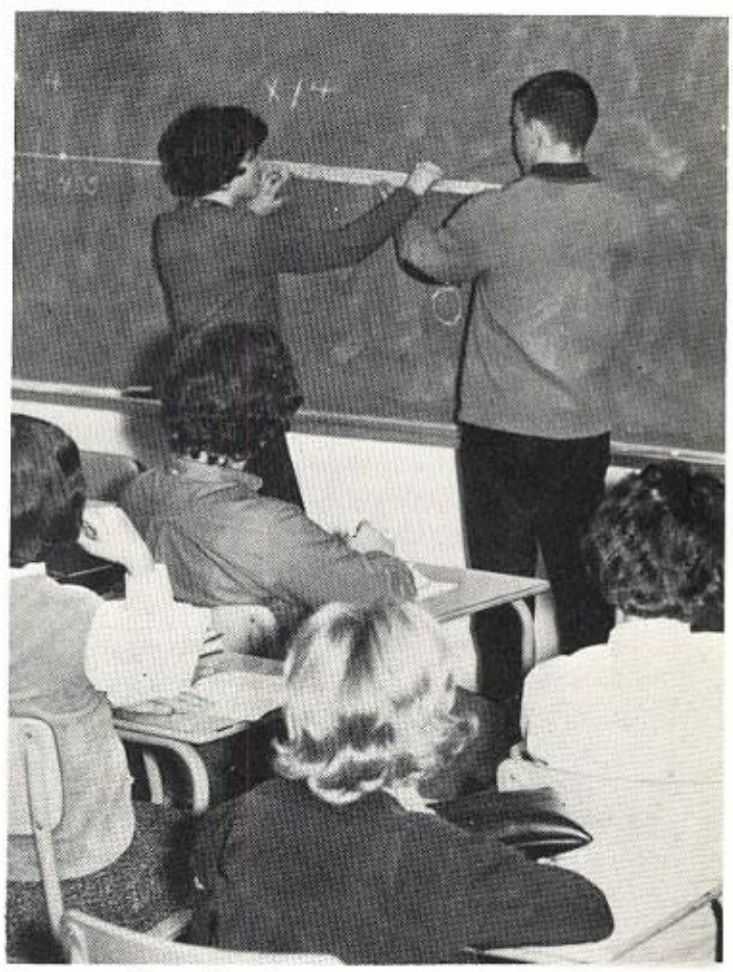
Shown at the board proving a theorem in TRIGONOMETRY CLASS is Mr. Kistner. Students find that trigonometry is much more than just the study of triangles and their functions.

The math department has something entirely new this year--a math center or laboratory which is surrounded by the mathematics class rooms. Students may come here to do research using the many math books. Also available for students' use in the center is a quantity of programmed material for learning. Using these materials, a student may progress at his own rate and study on his own a topic not covered in class. The center contains a work bench equipped with hammers, saws, and other tools and materials which students and teachers use to make models to illustrate mathematical ideas. The visitor to the center would see what appears to be gaily colored decorations hanging from the ceiling and stored in glass cases, but each illustrates an interesting mathematical idea.

The X-Algebra III students participated in an interesting enrichment project. Each studied a programmed unit on logic prepared by the University of Illinois Secondary School Mathematics Committee.

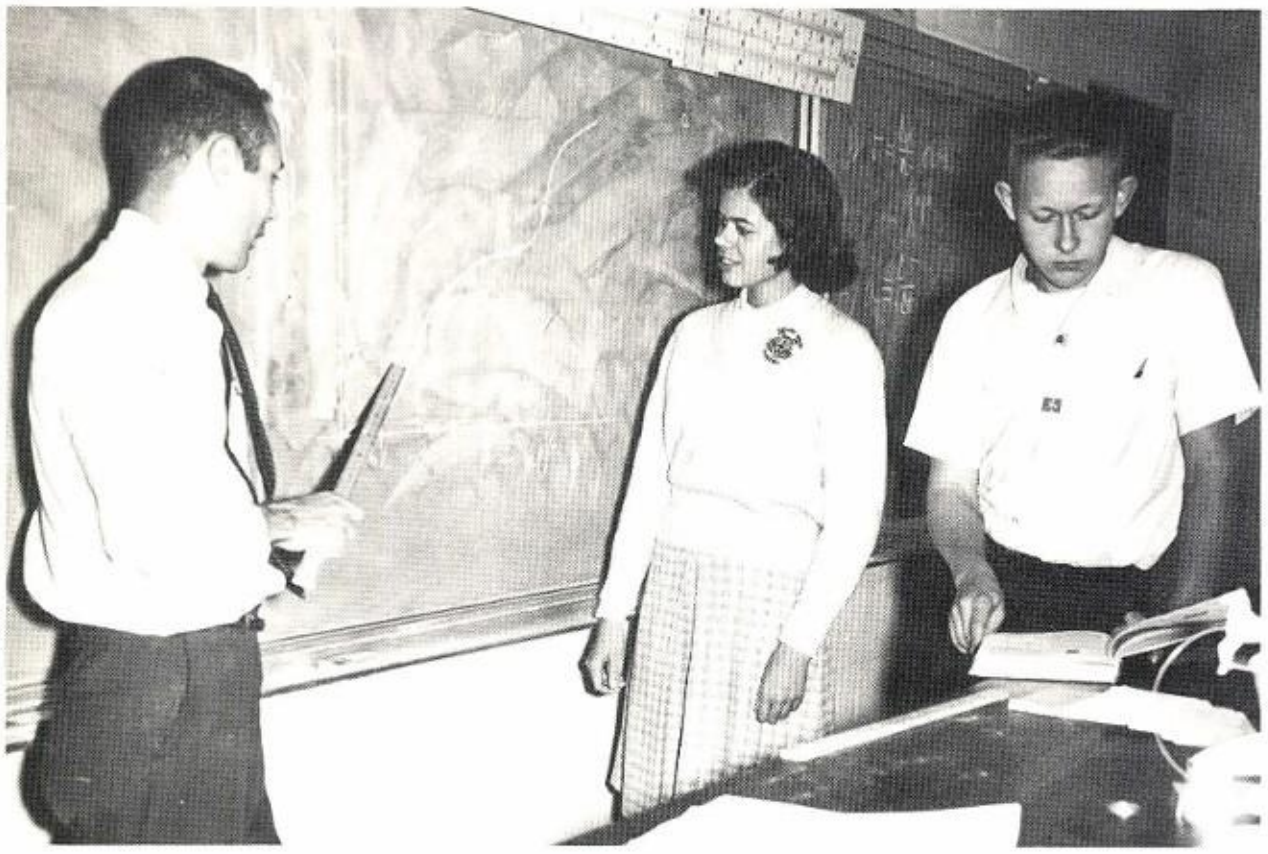


Robert Hase and Nancy Ruttle work at the board to prove that opposite angles in a parallelogram are equal. A student in GEOMETRY CLASS receives instruction in a broad field of math.



Seen working with the number line are Linnet Lightner and Marc Taylor. X-ALGEBRA I students learn about such things as logic, sets, fundamental properties of numbers, and properties of equalities.

THE STUDY OF SCIENCE BRINGS STUDENTS TO A



ABOVE: Diane Kroll smilingly accepts Mr. Hein's explanation of a Physics problem, but "doubting" Jim Knighton thinks he'd better check with the book.

A talk with Mr. Hopkins, chairman of the Science Dept., revealed that, while new methods for teaching English and math have been devised in the past few years, traditional methods were used for science. However, this year brought the advent of change. Divergence from the traditional was most evident in physics and biology. A group of college professors and secondary school educators prepared new text books for these courses, and P.S.S.C. (Physical Science Study Committee) Physics and B.S.C.S. (Biological Science

Janice Patterson and Phil Krall are trying to master the unusual numbering of the sections of a township.

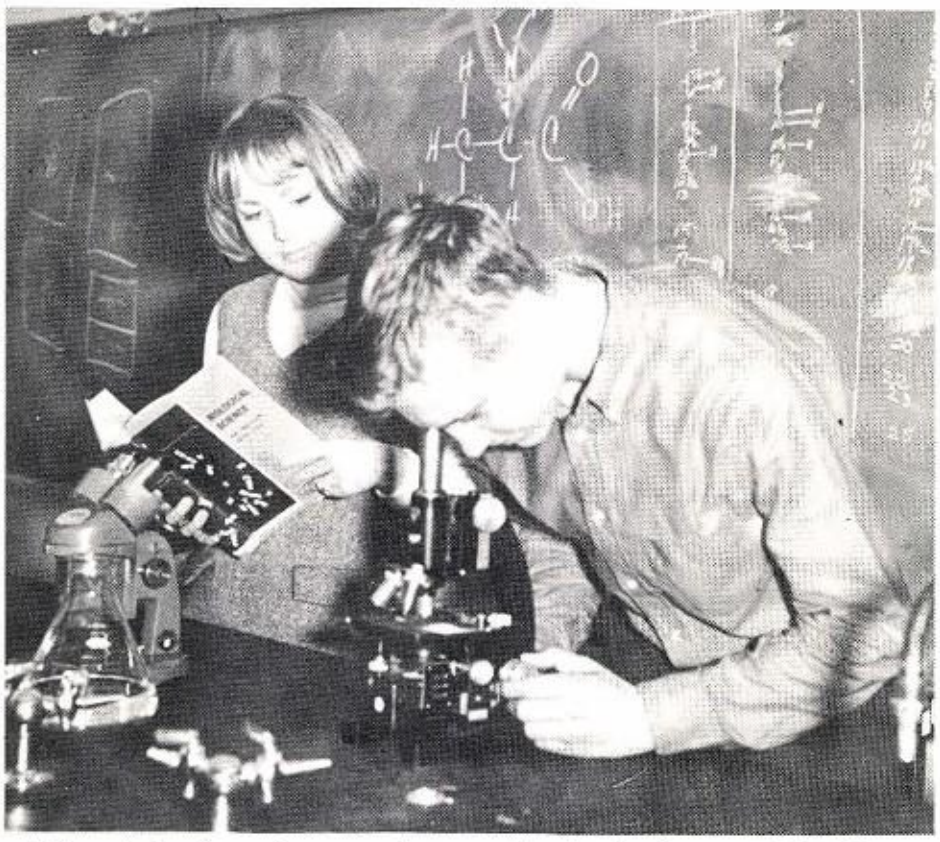
DEEPER UNDERSTANDING OF LIFE.

Curriculum Study) Biology. The "New Physics" stresses experiment and uses a minimum of formulas, as the "New Biology stresses work with live animals and the functions of their bodies, as opposed to the dissection of animals preserved in formaldahide.

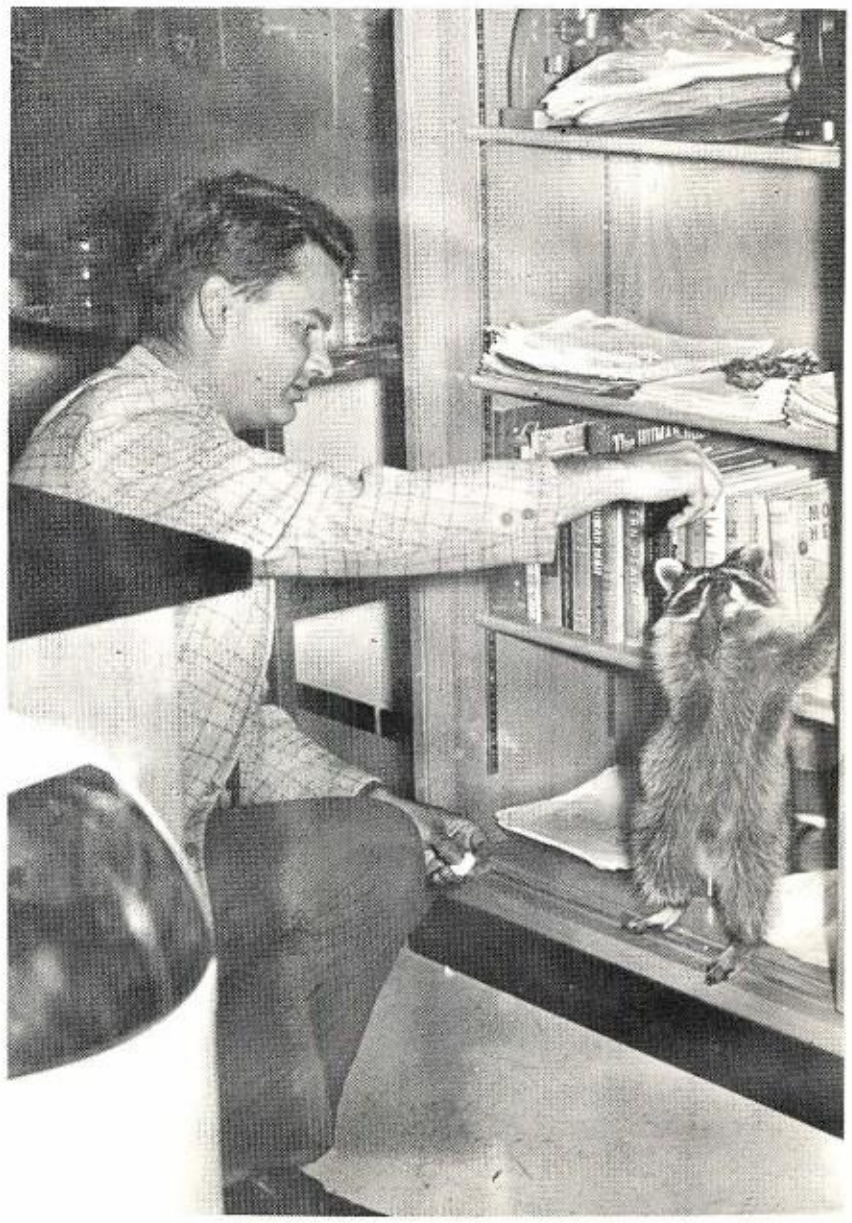
These two courses were not all that was new this year. The school is equipped with all of the latest facilities for both classroom and laboratory sciences. The other science courses include: chemistry, physiology, earth science, health, and space science.

Paul Wussow, Jim Wellman, JoAnne Stefanich, Mike Tymowicz and Lynn Zoleske are working diligently, and perhaps a bit skeptically with test tubes in chemistry lab.

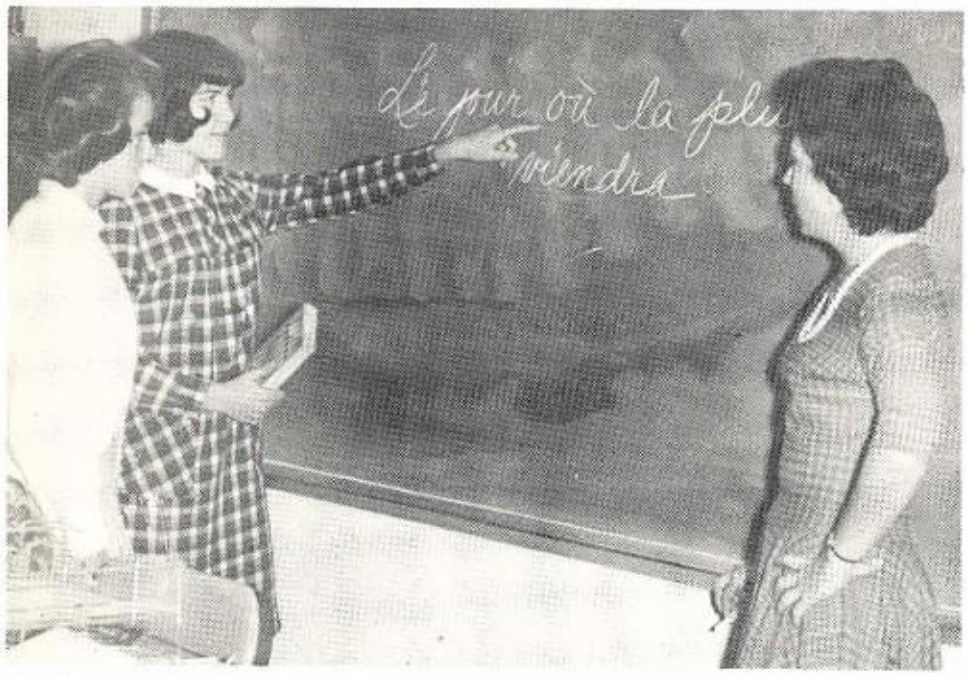


"Knowledge is a treasure, but practice is the key to it." Lois Gerl and Nick Grabavoy will receive plenty of practice during their two semesters with the microscope.

Mr. Warner feeds West's tame raccoon. Close observation of live specimen gives students an appreciation of animals.



LANGUAGES BRING UNIVERSAL UNDERSTANDING



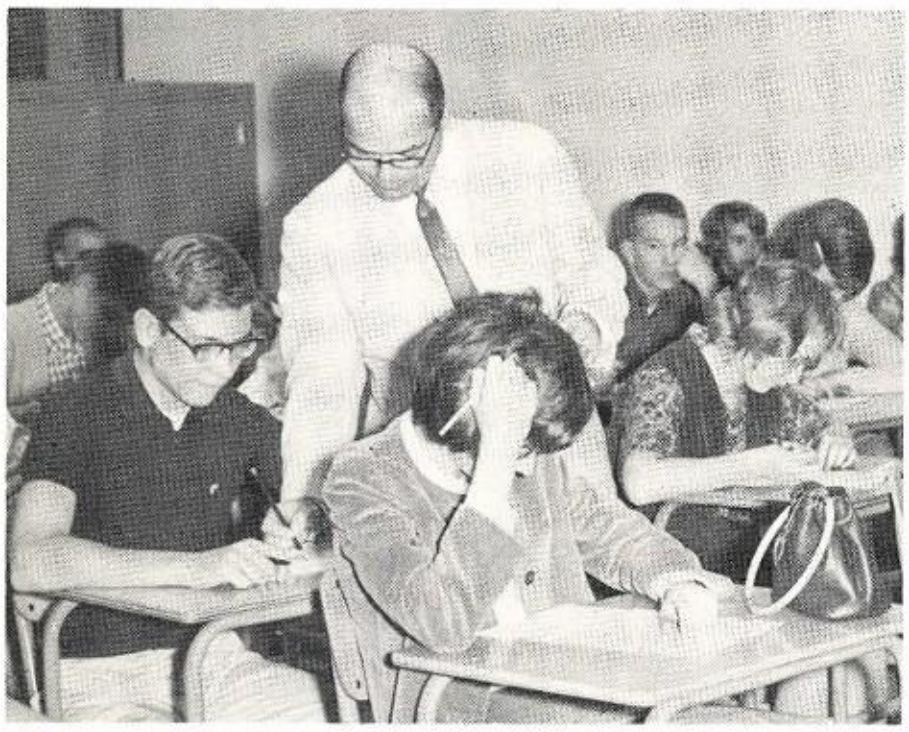
Working at the board are Karen Kozma, Monica Moline, and Miss Alice Hartman in FRENCH III CLASS. On the board is the name of a song which in English means "The Day The Rains Came Down."

In the new ultramodern language laboratories students learn a language under a new concept of teaching. Under the supervision of their teacher, Mr. (Herr) Fielitz, students use the electronic equipment to improve their vocal abilities.

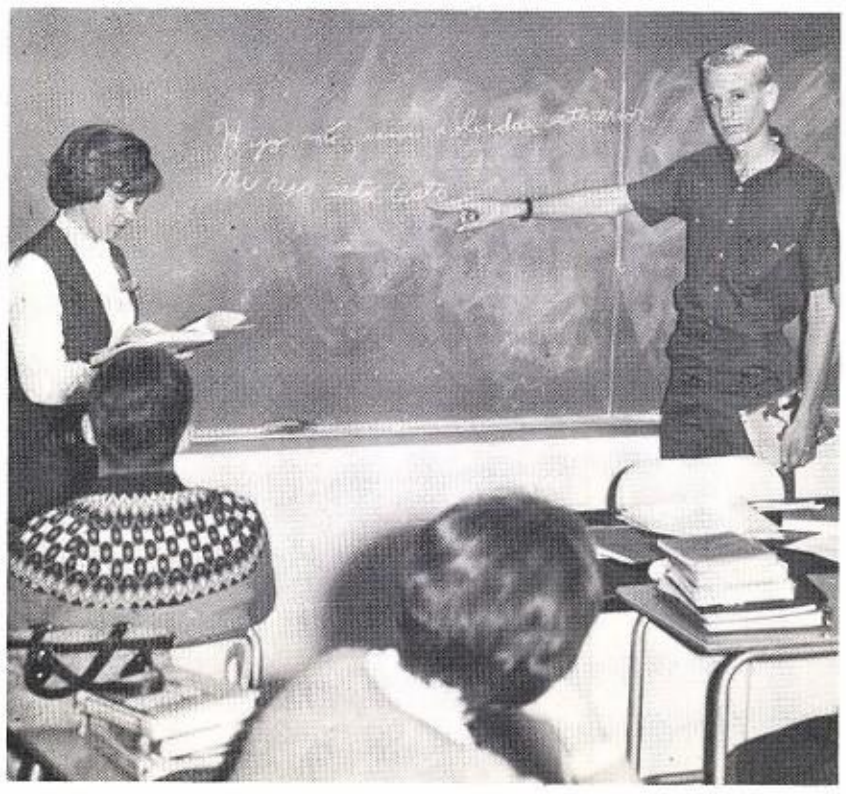
In each of the languages, the two years which initiate a student into the language are based on the language itself, including the spoken language and the written language. In German and Spanish, a new approach to language learning has been adopted, the audio-lingual approach, meaning that the students spend a greater amount of time learning the understanding of the spoken word and how to speak than on learning how to read and write in the language. This audio-lingual approach is a direct result of the National Defense Education Act Institute which most of our teachers have attended.

In the third and fourth years of the languages, use is made of the reading and writing skills, as the student studies the history and literature of the country about which he is studying. In his study of a language the student may write to pen pals in the country. Singing is done in all four language classes taught. The entymology of the language is not studied at all since this is quite an advanced study. No study is made of the old language except as it affects the current language.

We are fortunate to have thirty-two student positions in the language laboratory for student practice of the spoken language. This laboratory is also a result of the National Defense Education Act. In the laboratory, two types of student practice may be used. Our lab is audio-active, meaning the headsets are activated so that the student may hear himself through his own headset. A master program is sent from the teacher's console with drills on a particular facet of the language. The student works on these drills while the teacher monitors his answers and helps him when he is wrong.



Seen working hard are students in LATIN I CLASS under the supervision of their teacher, Mr. Louis Businaro. Students in Latin, as well as students in other language classes, work hard since knowledge in a language can be used in many professions.



Putting their Spanish homework on the board are Sue Sheets and Chuck Spurgeon. During this part of the course in SPANISH V CLASS, students strive for perfection of sentence structure and grammar.

Judy Reed and Dean Johnson are studying a map of the Roman Empire with Mr. Settles in World History I.

SOCIAL STUDIES--THE STUDY OF PEOPLE

Mr. Coleman uses visual aids to help his students understand the news of past and present in Social Studies I.

In today's age of near-daily crises in world affairs, high schools must give their students a knowledge of the past, an understanding of the present, with preparation to plan for the future.

The J.T.H.S. West Social Science Department offers comprehensive courses ranging from History to Social Problems to meet these demands.

Mr. Maloney makes an interesting "point" with the aid of a U.S. map.

The sun's shining, but no one's happy. It's test time in World Geography.

Future Homemakers Learn Through Practice

"London Bridge is falling down." Isn't that a nice game? Isn't that game fun? Joy Kastman thinks it's a nice game. Michaelene Orlovich thinks that game is fun. Does the little girl think that game is fun? No. She is too young.

Mrs. Sorenson helps students with their sewing machines while they work on their semester projects.

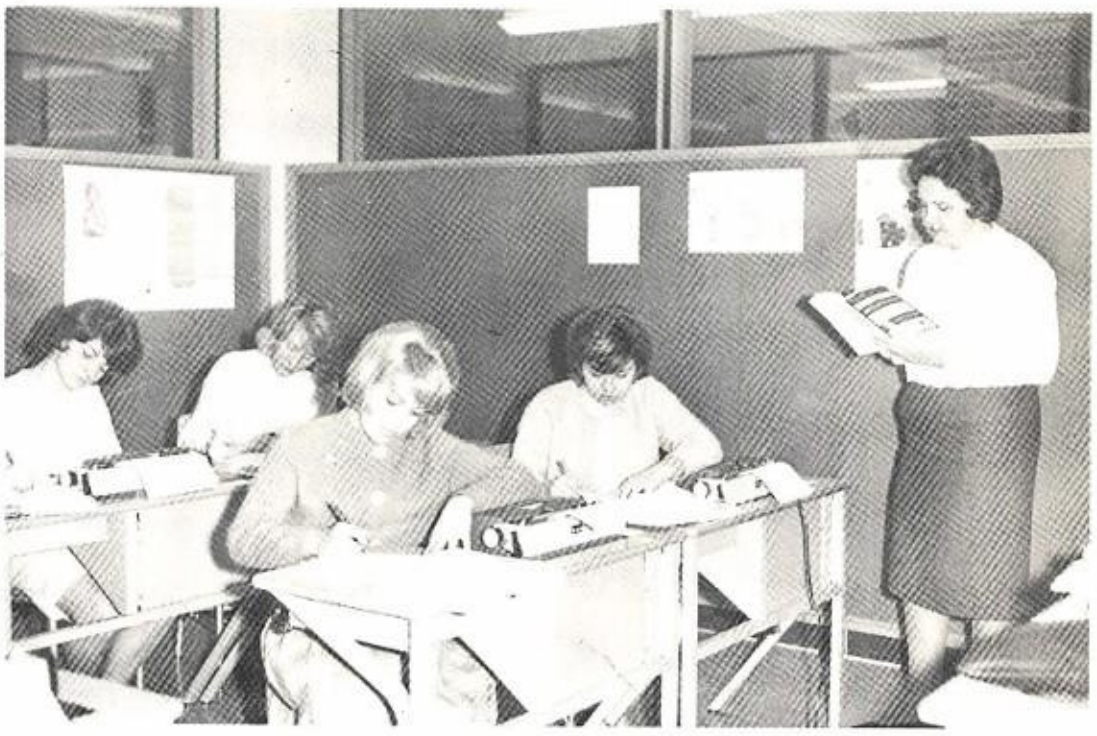
Students in Home Economics III learn through plenty of practice. These "chefs" are Vicki Oakley, Dawn Sheridan, Gaye Myers, and Sue Schappe.

Home economics affords excellent practice for girls, whether they are taking the course with the intention of becoming home economists or are merely interested in gaining experience for everyday family situations. Future homemakers learn particularly about cooking and sewing, but courses are also offered in interior decorating and child development. "There's no place like home," and home economics girls will certainly have a head start in learning how to make one.

Home economics students set tables as a meager introduction to their future as practicing hostesses.

BUSINESS EDUCATION MEETS FUTURE NEEDS

Dave Humphreys points to the position of the "i" key on the keyboard chart in Mr. Baker's Typing 1 class.



Miss Smith dicitates while Carole Gursh, Barb Nurczyk, Ann Stanfield, and Joyce Crowther take down the words in shorthand.

Business education is important for all students who have hopes of entering this field after graduation. West offers a wide variety of courses from typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping to office occupations and distributive education. Participation in this curriculum leads many students into the co-operative work experience programs during their senior year.

Mr. Kahle observes as his students work diligently on an assignment in Office Occupations class.

Mr. Jamnik discusses the fundamental bookkeeping equation in his Bookkeeping I class

Kay Easton and Dan Henkel will be representatives to the state conference of Distributive Education students.

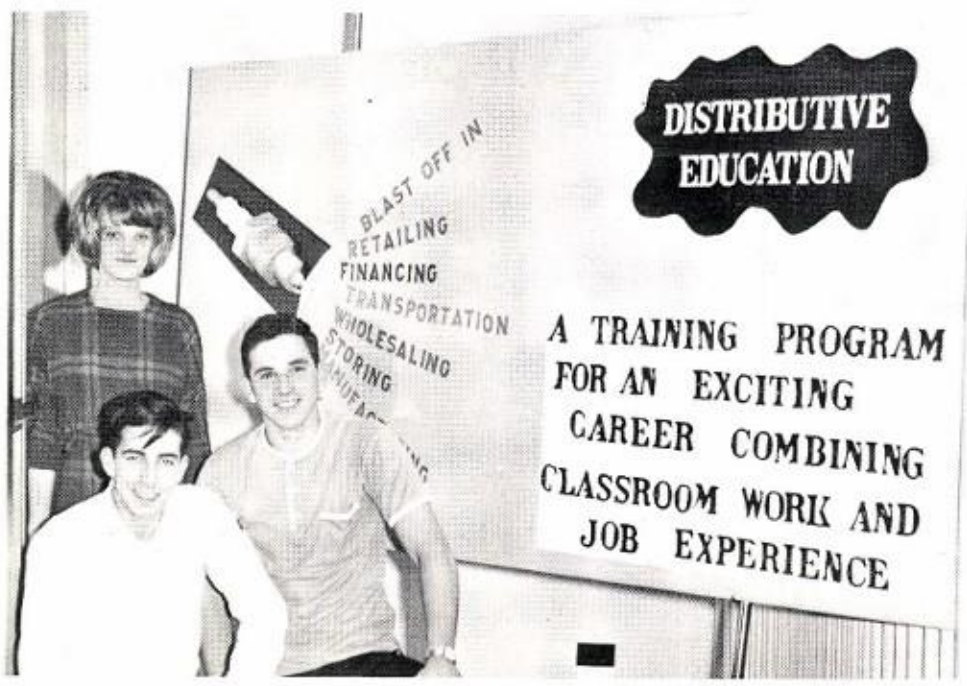
Larry Nickel types in the office occupations class.

These Students Learn And Earn

Distributive Education and Office Occupations are vocational training programs in which school and business cooperate to provide specialized training for seniors who are considering a career in business after graduation from high school or college. The students attend school in the morning and work in the afternoon. The average pay is $1.13 an hour, and many students earn more than $1,000 in the school year. Employment is mainly in the areas of selling, display, advertising, merchandising, office routines, or other areas relating to the sale of products or the service of the business. The students' work schedules are planned so that the students are rotated from job to job, enabling them to participate in many phases of business.

Marie Foxworth learns how to operate an adding machine in office occupations.

Sue Watson operates an adding machine in preparation for a future career.



Jack Saieg, Mike Daum, and Barb Alley worked on this poster placed in the D.E. display case.

Food Producers of the Future

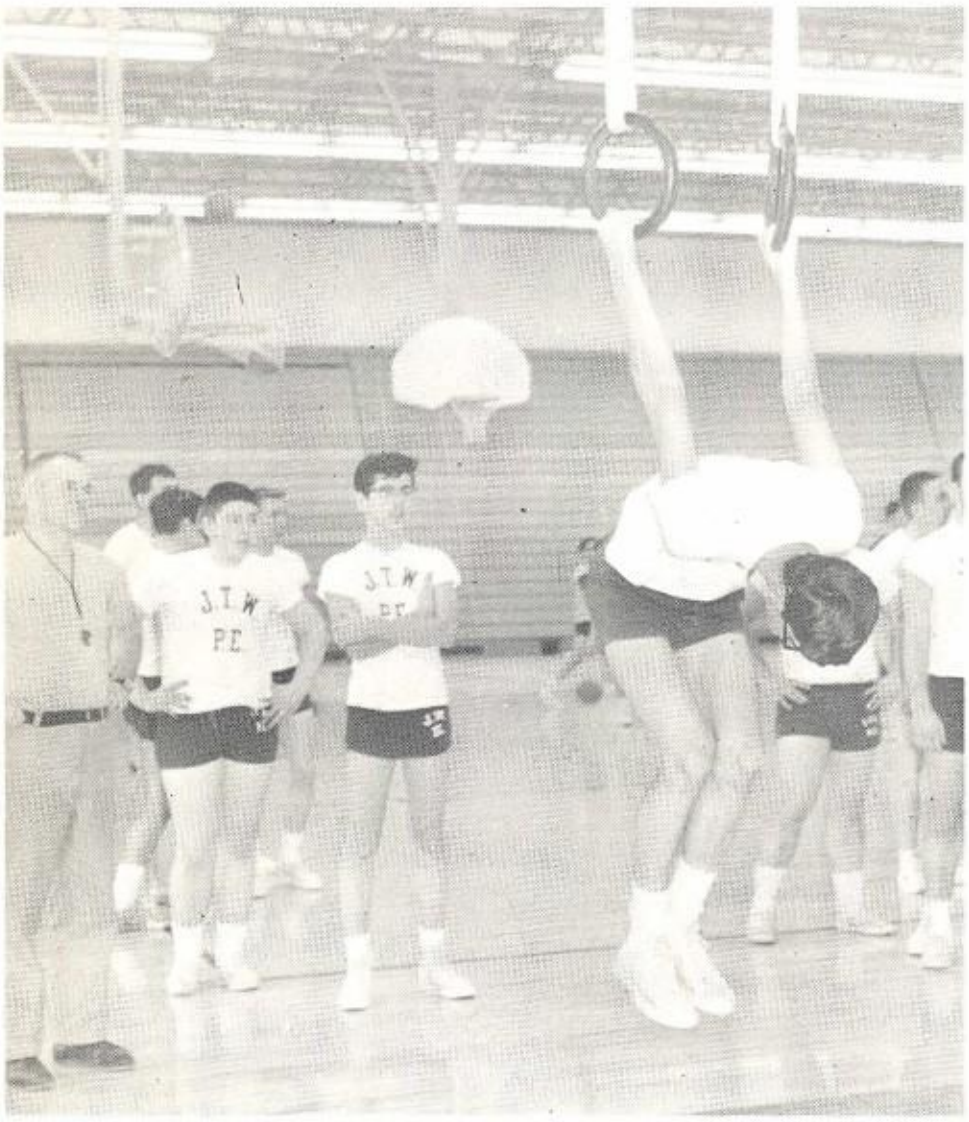
Students in vocational agriculture classes study a wide variety of subjects. They cover nearly every field, from corn growing to electricity. Among the other subjects covered are livestock and their diseases, farm management, care of machinery, plumbing, and welding. Although these would seem to draw mainly from the masculine numbers, many girls are also interested in farming. These future farmers are learning to apply, and perhaps discover, modern theories and techniques to aid in producing the nation's food crops.

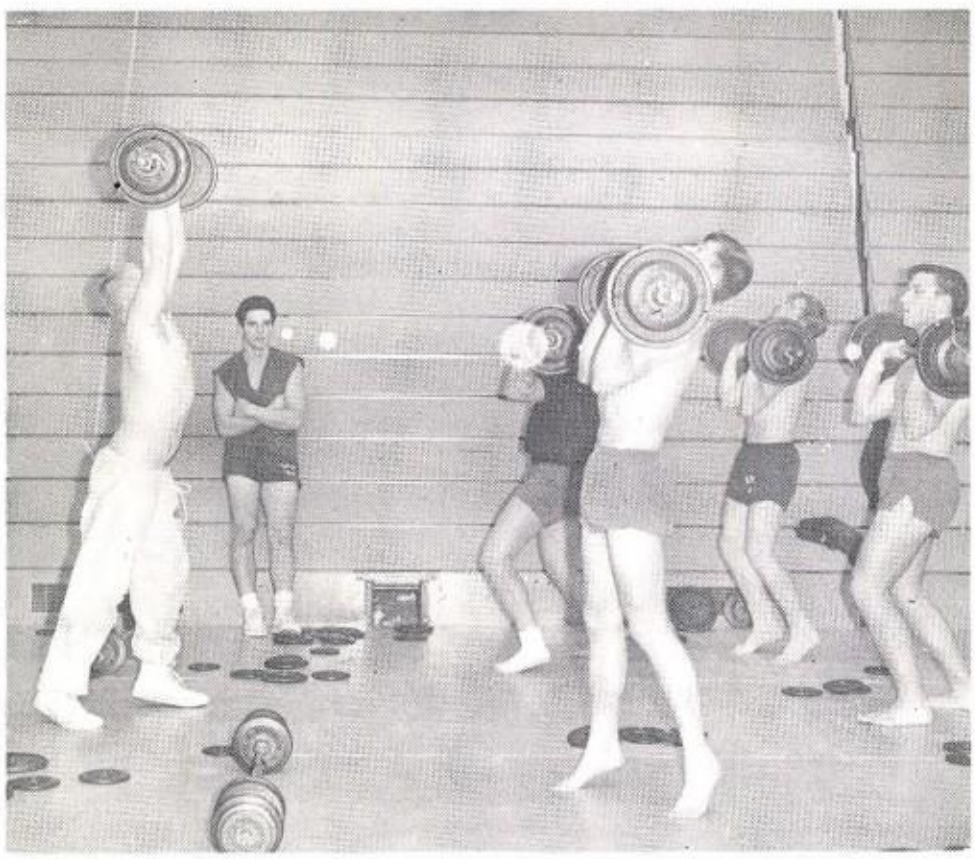
Dave Werner, Jim Alabastro, Bob Anderson, and Bob Kasten are examining and preparing for exhibition samples of grain and hay in agriculture class.

Besides studying domestic animals, the future farmers learn about wild life. These students are examining Paul Lemonta's wildlife project, "A Study of the Mallard Duck."

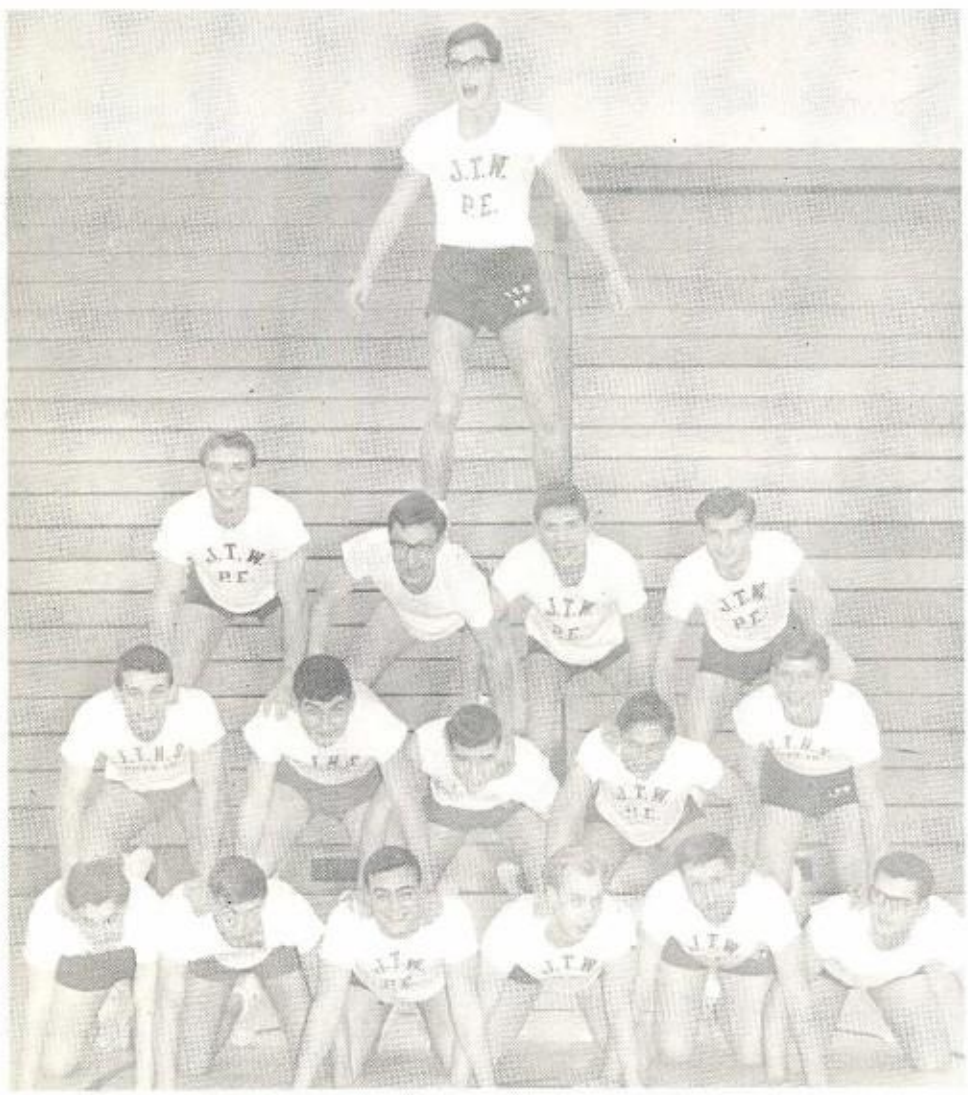
The P.E. Department at West Works to develop



Under the direction of Mr. Herm Walser, George Shimek demonstrates his ability to "Fly through the air" on the flying rings.



Coach Klootwyk works hard to make "men" out of boys in his weight lifting classes.



Mr. Miller's 15-16 tumbling class calls this "Paschal's Triangle". This is one time it really pays to be "top man".

Ron Bucciarelli and Fred Klein climb the ropes under the criticizing eye of Mr. Al Meyer.

Physical Fitness and dexterity.

Pat Gooday, Sue Warfel, Cindy Xigogianis, Pat Liberty, and Kirma Pearce.

Basic movement is an important part of girl's training. Seen here are Bonnie Gatons and Becky Grazis using the jump ropes.

The Physical Education Department works to develop sound bodies while the school develops sound minds. Being physically fit and healthy not only makes a student feel and act better, but also helps him to do better in his school studies. Physical fitness is as important as an academic class because a well-developed student is a student well developed in body as well as mind. The department builds physical stamina and strength in boys, while the girls develop poise, self-confidence, and control. Through the efforts of the physical education instructors the students of West are better prepared for the future world.

During gym classes girls learn how to play touch football, a sport generally considered for boys only.

Shutter-Bugs Improve With Training

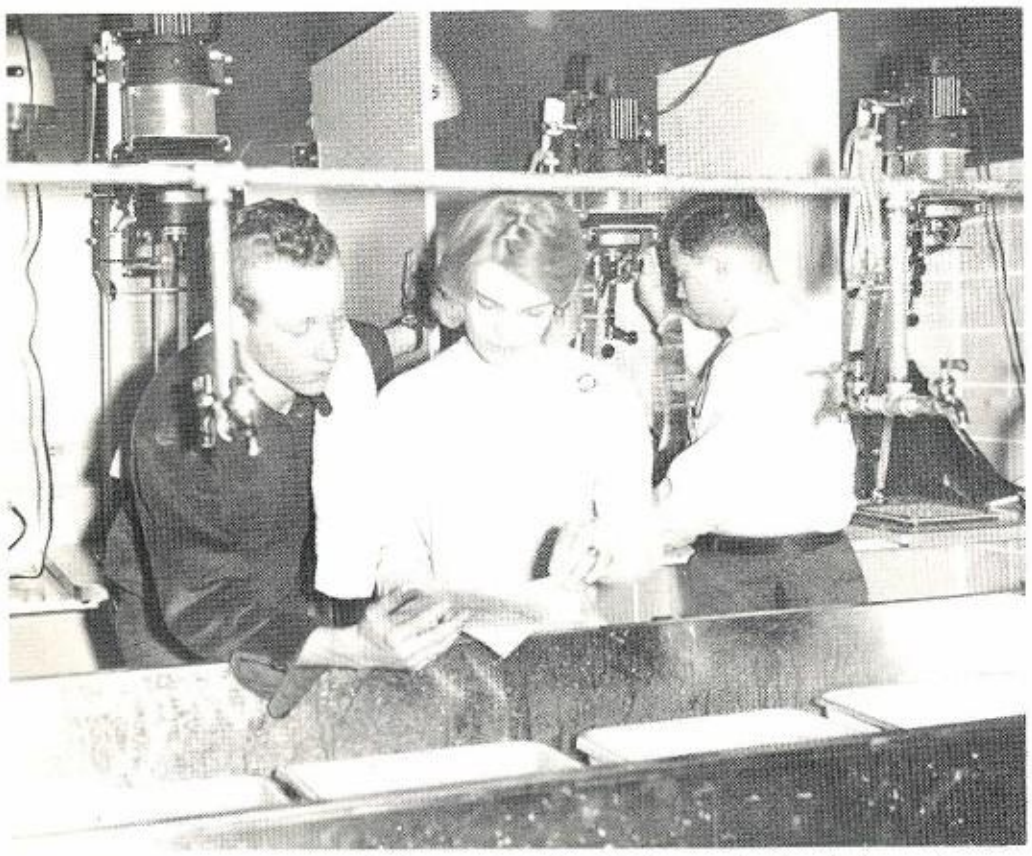
Ron Likovic and Peggy Bartz inspect a roll of negatives during their 11-12 photography III class.

Under the direction of Mr. Leatsler, photography students learn through trial and error. The students receive training through taking and developing pictures for their class projects and for the yearbook. Mike Mahoney, Dan Mathieu, and Linda Jahnke are the three main yearbook photographers. We give our thanks especially to these students, as well as all the other photography students who went out of their way to donate their services for the production of this book.



Dan Mathieu and Linda Jahnke assist Mike Mahoney in developing pictures for the yearbook. These students took, developed, and printed most of the photographs used here.

Art-"Life seen through a temperament."

Karen Kozma is working on scratchboard and design in Art V.

In the art classes at J.T. West students have a chance to express their emotions and personalities through the media of sketching, painting, sculpture, wood carving, commercial art, and jewelry making. Aspiring artists or "just interested pupils" begin their cultural studies with Art I-II, a basic course in color harmonization, composition, and techniques, and from there go into more advanced classes such as painting. These classes help students to develop individual and creative thinking while gaining a deeper appreciation of their environment and perhaps a better understanding of that mystery—human nature.

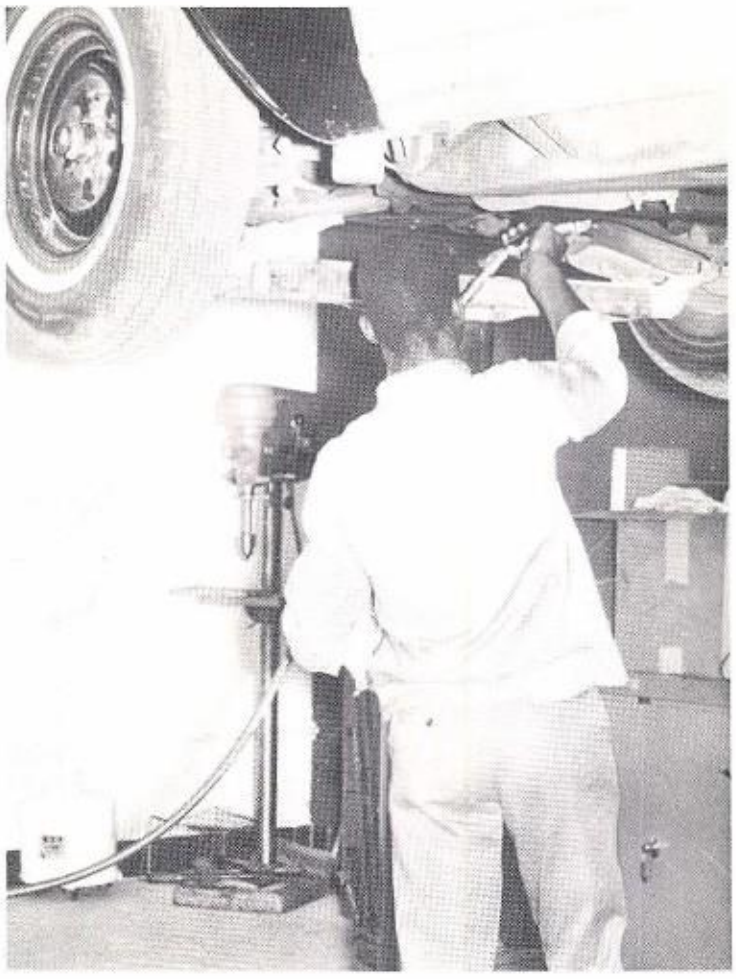
Sandy Menzer and Lynn Minarich are enameling under the direction of Miss Long.

Is this a shop class? Nope. Gerry Peterson and Ken Griffin are using the blow torch to solder together an art project.

Dave Albue and Kay Sitar are working with sculpture under the watchful gaze of Miss Long.

Industrial Arts Provide Useful Training

Larry Pickering is spot welding two pieces of metal together in construction of a project in Metal Shop.



Lonnie Winters takes good advantage of Auto Shop by working on his own car while learning useful knowledge in the maintenance of automobiles.

Many freshmen students at West are taking General Shop, a program consisting of six shops, each lasting six weeks. These boys receive experience with tools, materials, and processes employed by man in securing, distributing, and using the earth's resources to meet his physical needs. If a boy finds that he enjoys the program, he may spend a year in the Industrial Shop of his choice. This program helps students acquire skills and related knowledge to enable them to perform jobs in given occupations and around their homes. The really enthusiastic students take Vocational Shop where they prepare to enter a given trade.

Bob Hendricks uses the electric sander in the completion of a project in Wood Shop.

Students in Electric Shop set up electrical circuits and test them with a hand generator. These Electric Shop students are Joe Smyder, Nick Rudman, and their teacher Mr. Siron.

A Library is a Storehouse of Knowledge

Mr. Edmond Williams, the head librarian, is hard at work behind his desk. We are fortunate to have his highly qualified services aiding us in beginning our library at West.

Assisting Mr. Williams in running the library is the assistant librarian, Miss Dorothy Wells.

The library at West Campus is extremely modern and well-equipped. It was built as the hub of the school, around which the English, Science, Language, and Math classes, as well as many others revolve. For instance, the library has four large conference rooms where students may work on group discussions or other oral work. There are twelve study booths where students may do work privately. The library also contains a periodical room in which magazines and special documents are stored, and this room may double as a class room which teachers may use. Besides these features, the library has a materials room, audio-visual room, and listening booths to make it modern and well-equipped.

Student assistant librarians of periods 15 and 16 are Ruth Wille, Denise Geritano, Kathy Van Tassel, Donna Klemt, and Tom McLaughlin. These student volunteers provide a useful service to the school while learning about library systems.

Mr. Daniel Bonar is working on a projector in the audio-visual room of the library. He sees that all audio-visual equipment is ready when teachers need it for educational purposes in their classes.

UNDERCLASS

Incoming freshmen begin their high school years by planning their curricula, while the arrival of class rings ends the underclass years for the juniors.

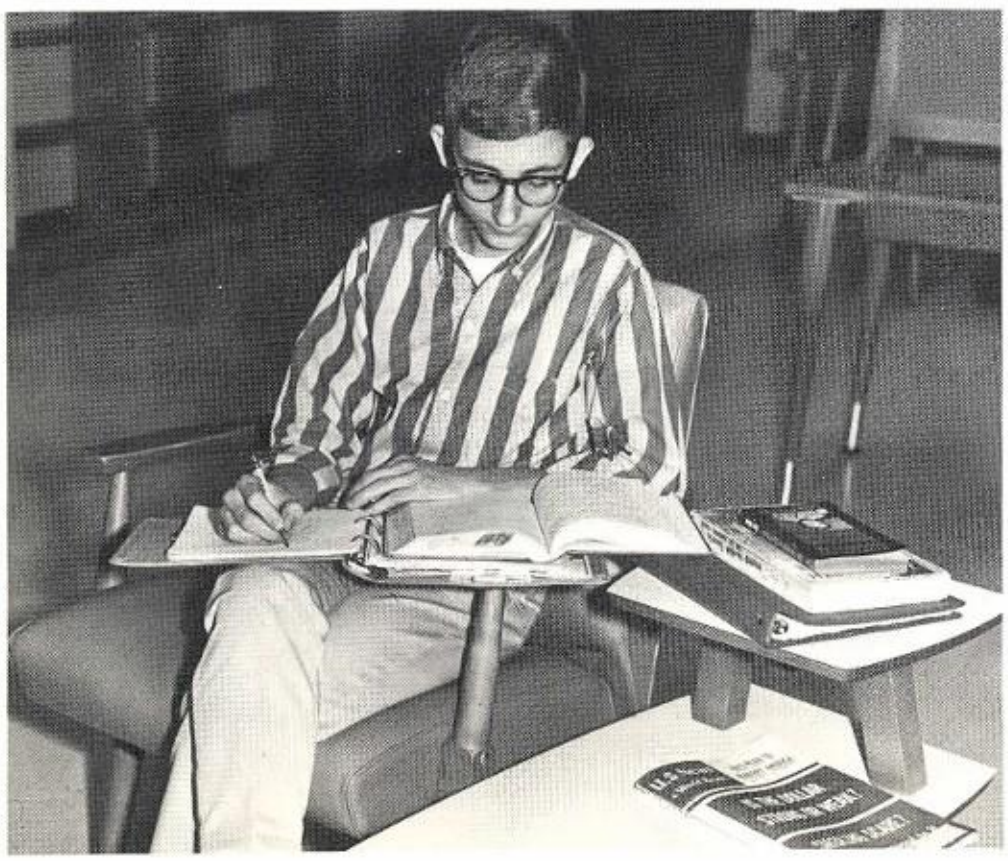
Freshmen Learn New Methods of Education

Earth Science is the first laboratory science open to students of West High. Mr. Gallion watches as Donna Sealy and Leonard Wietting study equipment demonstrating the motions of the earth and sun.

Freshmen realize that study must play an important part in their schedule. The well situated study halls provide adequate conditions for such study.



Freshmen soon learn to take advantage of the resources of the library. Here Robert Boettcher studies in one of the comfortable chairs provided.

SOPHOMORES LEARN NEW STUDY TECHNIQUES

Sophomore Sue Sheets spends part of each day working in the library as an assistant.

Steve Schwartz encounters one of the many burdens of a sophomore in that he must prepare countless speeches in order to fulfill his English requirements.

SENIORS

As the senior year begins, there are tests to take and applications to fill out, but all of these efforts will be rewarded as the year ends with graduation.

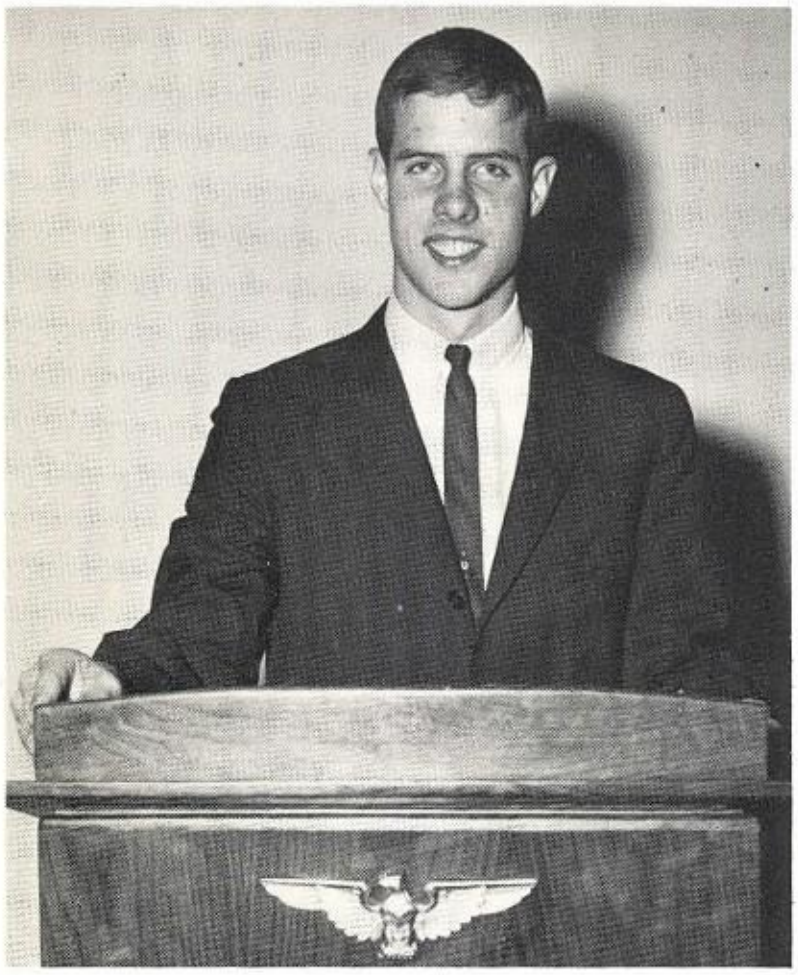
Senior Class Officers Pave The Way



CRAIG McKEOWN---President

MARK HOFFER---Vice President

JOANNE STEFANICH---Treasurer

The class of '65 was the first to graduate from Joliet Township West. On this class rested much of the responsibility of starting organizations and setting new traditions---a school song, a mascot, a nickname, and more.

Craig, Mark, Kay, JoAnne, Jane, and John were the pace setters for this class. Their efforts along with that of the counselors, Mr. Enderson and Mr. Vanko, proved very gratifying.

The students, along with the class officers, produced a senior year full of success and fond memories.

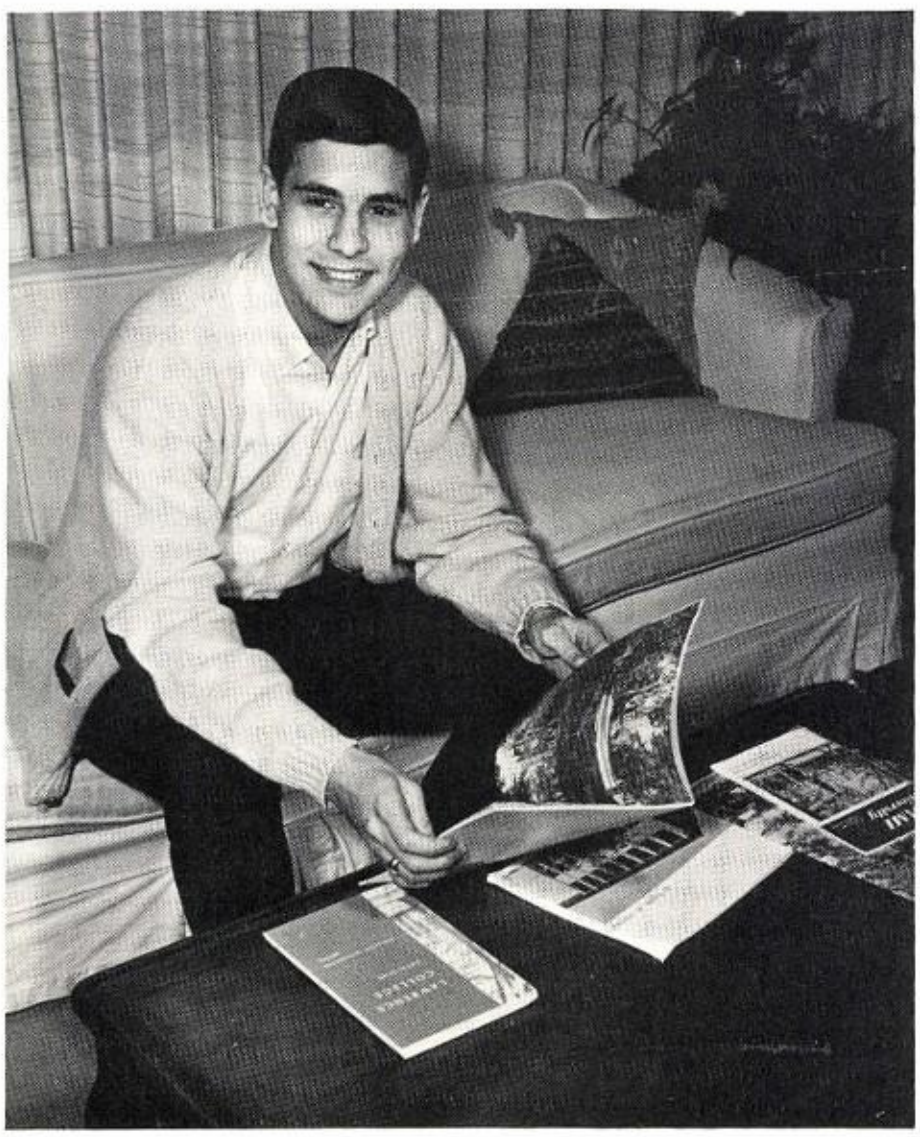
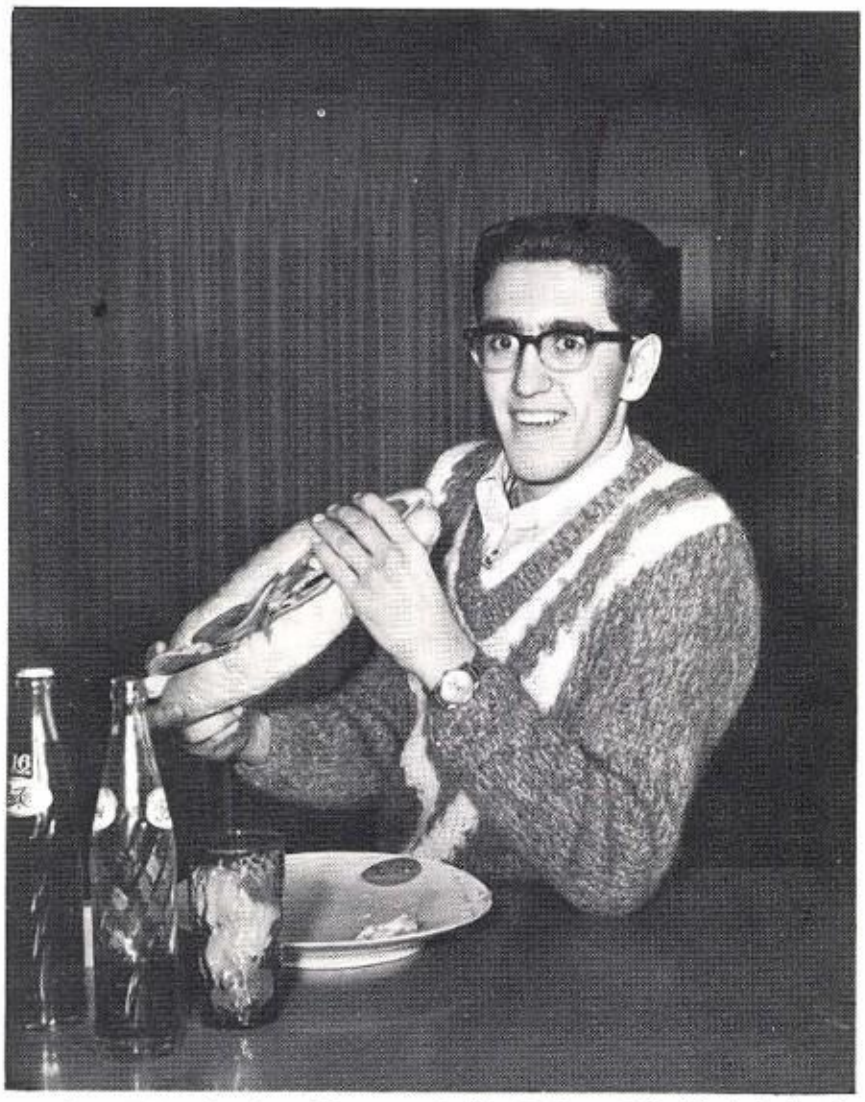
Joyce, he cut down a cherry tree, not an apple tree! Just as George Washington was the first president of the United States, JOYCE CROWTHER is the first president of the Student Council at West. Joyce's council work throughout her four years of high school has proved an asset to the school as well as the council.

"Who needs skies with these things!" exclaims CRAIG McKEOWN. Our faithful Senior Class President has finally found time for one of his favorite hobbies. On skies or as drum major of the band: Craig masters his skills. With all of his duties, he still finds time to be a scholar which is shown by his membership in the National Honor Society.



"Well hello there!" This greeting, often used by GERRY LESTER, is recognized by many West students. As president of the National Honor Society, Gerry won't have any trouble getting into a college, but his problem is choosing the right one for him. "Let's see, gals or grades!"

Senior Celebrities



"Say, John, that's really a sandwich fit for a King!" And that's just what JOHN HONIOTES is. Yes, he was Mr. Football King of 1965. Other accomplishments John made in his senior year were Boys' Social Chairman and a member of the Student Council. He is also a valuable member of the track team.

"And people wonder why I have such rosy cheeks!" SUE WARFEL does have rosy cheeks and she is a member of the band, but it's not because she plays the tuba. Sue has occupied the position of Black Band Sponsor during her senior year. She also was elected Mr. Football Queen of 1965. With these two honors she has a very successful graduating year.

"Jane, we know you're an artist, but what's that?" JANE SCHIEK'S artistic ability, friendly personality, willingness to work, and clever ideas have made her a key person in the success of the first year of J.T. West. She did her job well as Girls' Social Chairman and a member of student council.

Senior Celebrities

We just happened to catch JIM NICHOLSON in one of his more relaxed moments. During football season he doesn't have much extra time for things like that as he is a hard working member of the team. Jim was voted the most valuable player for the 1964-65 season.

"Hey Kathy, that note should be a sharp, not a flat!" Through KATHY ALLEN'S high school years she has been very active. She has been a cheerleader all four years, and this year she is the captain of the varsity squad. It's easy to see that her warm smile could really cheer the teams on to victory. Besides being a cheerleader, Kathy is also a member of the A Cappella choir and a past member of the Student Council.

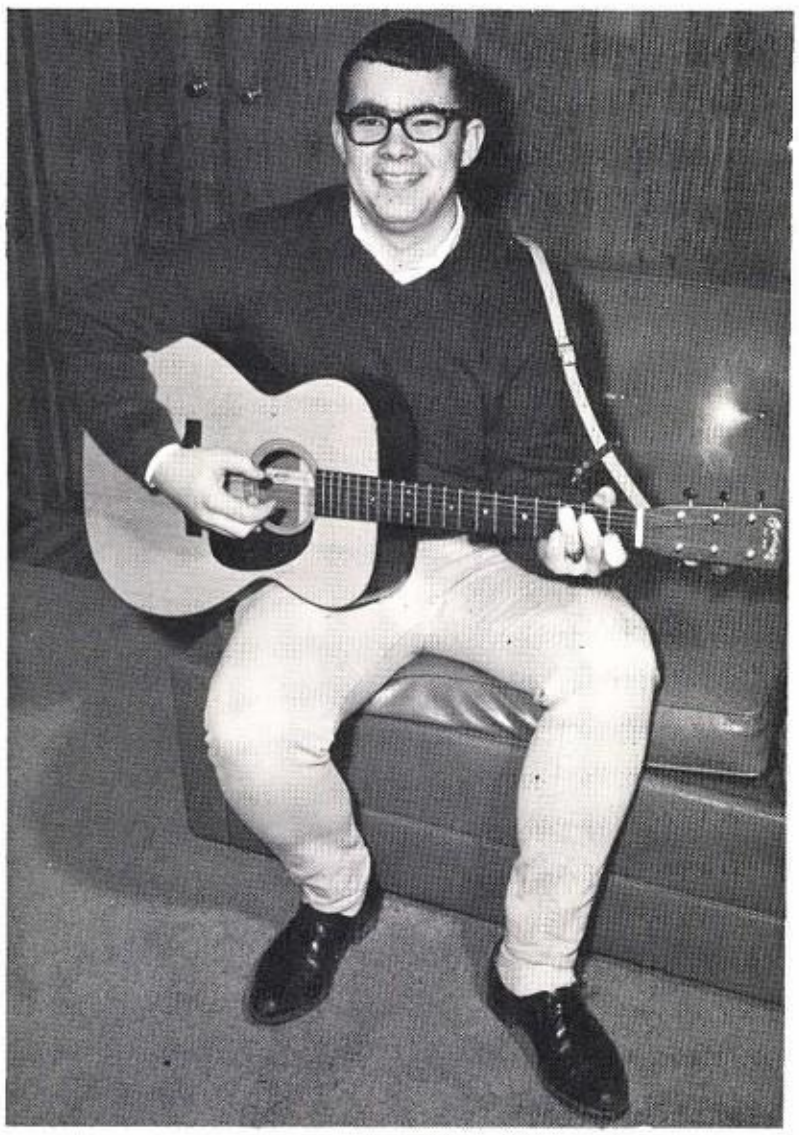
"Who forgot to water these things?" As KAY BOORAS takes time out of her busy schedule to organize a scrapbook of many high school achievements, she finds many honors including Senior Court Attendant, Senior Class Secretary, yearbook co-editor, and Student Council.

"Want to run it?" This is quite a ridiculous question since SALLY HUEY'S little touring Jeep doesn't go over forty-five miles an hour. Sal has been a busy girl throughout her high school career. Among her many accomplishments are Freshman Court Attendant, vice-president of Pep Club, and a member of dent Council.

Senior Celebrities

"I've got to get this homework done because Garfield Goose comes on in ten minutes!" JOANNE STEFANICH spent her senior year as Company B Sponsor of the N.D.C.C. and Senior Class Treasurer. In her earlier high school years, she was Sophomore Court Attendant and served on the Student Council.

"I'd show you how to work this thing, but I lost the instructions!" ALAN KAMHI really knows how to operate his saber. Besides being a very active member of the N.D.C.C., Alan participates in A Cappella Choir and Madrigals. Adding to his busy schedule is his membership in the National Honor Society.



"My dog has flees . . . ." That's the way to tune it. This is one of JEFF DAVIS' many talents. One thing for sure, he knows how to sing. As a leading Madrigal. he acquires much skill. He has had a lead in one of the school operettas and also a major part in the all-school play. West had a very successful Mr. Football weekend thanks to Jeff's planning and leadership.

"If you don't come up in five minutes, I'll be in for you," says DONNA GROHNE. This isn't a very practical way to teach swimming, but it does encourage the kids to learn. When Donna isn't wearing her Gold Band Sponsor uniform, you might find her giving swimming lessons at the "Y".

West Campus Extends Welcome To First Exchange Student

Celina Varela is known not only as West's foreign exchange student from Brazil, but also for her ability to accompany herself as she sings folk songs and bossa nova. When not playing the guitar, Celina is active in the American Field Service, Student Council, A Cappella Choir and GAA. Perhaps one of the highlights of her year in America is the snow. She likes skating and snowball fights especially well. Snow won't go back to Brazil, but many memories will.

Celina and the Converse family are a terrific group with many common interests. Seated are Ruth, Celina, Louise; standing Steve, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Converse. Celina and the Converse family have had many enjoyable experiences. They never fail to get together when there is a need for it, says Celina.

Here, Celina points out her home in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, to Miss Eldred, her homeroom teacher. Celina plans to continue her education in a Brazilian college. She hopes to relate her American experiences as an English teacher. West students have enjoyed assemblies and friendships that will never be forgotten after her departure from America.

Scholars of the Senior Class

Each year the Adams Award is presented to a boy and a girl from each class with the highest scholastic average. Due to the split of the schools, not all of the winners for the Class of 1965 are pictured. West was fortunate to receive four out of the six scholars.

Each year the National Merit Scholarship test is taken by high school students throughout the United States. All the grades are averaged on a nationwide basis. Betsy Lenz, pictured at right, was one of three Joliet finalists scoring higher than the many other participants. She is eligible for the National Merit Scholarship and plans to attend Illinois Wesleyan University.

ORGANIZATIONS

Organizations are important functions of the school. Rarely a day passes that some organization's meeting does not begin and end.

The Student Council every year sponsors many worth-while fund raising activities. The sale of programs at the fall football games is organized by this group. An important community activity is the sale of peanuts for the polio drive. They also sponsor the Homecoming activities and Twirp Season. In order to contribute to the Dollars for Scholars Fund, the Council conducted fudge sales and a shako sale. During the first year at West, this important organization has helped to establish many fine traditions.

Joliet West Orchestra has proved itself time and again during the past year as a cultural service to the school and community. Its fine orchestral achievements were beautifully demonstrated at the Christmas concert with the A Cappella Choir. Their goal, which is to achieve the finest of orchestral music, was again proven at the combined concert with the Girls Chorus and their spring concert in May. They have also participated in the District Orchestra and the State Orchestra. In the years to come this organization is sure to continue with the fine tradition they have already begun.

Around an imposing nucleus from the world renowned band of old J.T.H.S. has been built the sparkling new band of J.T. West. Already, they have established a tradition of vivacious half-time performances during the football games with their stirring music and disciplined marching routines. In order to have their Fall performances down pat, the new West Band met often during the hot days of August to practice their numbers. Their hard-working new conductor, Mr. Katterjohn, drew some remarkable performances out of these musicians. An experienced director of outstanding bands, Mr. Arthur Katterjohn came to Joliet West from Saline, Michigan. His belief in striving for "superior" performances has been proven time and again, in concerts and at basketball and football games. In the future we hope to see our great band continue with the fine tradition that they have already started.

In recent years languages have been becoming more and more important. Most colleges require at least two years of a language for entrance. The enlarging enrollment of students in the language curriculum reflect the necessity of the language in modern education. Language clubs also play an important part in the language program. At Joliet West these clubs also provide an extra-curricular method of learning more about a language for many interested students.

"Tiger Tales" Relays School News to West High

PAPERS. PAPERS EVERYWHERE. In the midst of the "Tiger Tales" are Pam Richards, Assistant Editor, and Bonnie Scholar, Editor. Their "Ruff and Ready Tiger Advisor" is Mr. C. Crum.

"DON'T TELL ME . . . . IT'S HERE SOMEWHERE." Pictured here are a few of the hard-working "Tiger Tales" reporters: Judy Johnson, Marcia Dunn, Sue Nussbaum, Sandy Resis, and at the typewriter, Kathy Allen.

"CRUMPLE-1; STUFF-2 . . . . These reporters are busy "stuffing" their tiger which won second prize in the Homecoming Parade. The reporters are Bernie Lovati, Ellen Landman, Cyndy Xigogianis, and Pete Lamberson. Reporters not pictured include Dave Koivula, Howell Lind, Lonnie Pohl, Glen Kirk, Bob Arnoldi, Gladys Moffett, and Peggy Bartz.

Busy discussing plans for the "Black and Gold" Literary Magazine are Linda Lindblom; Sandy Resis, Editor; Rich Rawlins; Karen Engleman; and Linda Magee.

Yearbook--A Souvenir of High School Memories

"A TOAST TO SUCCESS!" Co-Editors of the yearbook, Judy Lutz and Kay Booras, relax with the yearbook sponsor, Mr. Charles Baker.

"GET IT?" says Faculty Editor, Gerry Lester, to Academic Editor, Terry Severson, and his Assistant Editor, Cheri Carey.

$$c$c$$c$$$ . . . . WOW! says Chet June, Business Manager of the Yearbook, after closing his records for the day.

"LET'S GET ORGANIZED!" says Organizations Editor of the Yearbook, Kirma Pearce, to her Assistant Editor, Sue Kempe.

"WHEN'S THAT DANCE?" says Social Editor, Jane Schiek, and her Assistant Editor, Craig McKeown.

THEY'RE HAVING A "BALL"! Boys' Sports Editors, Ron Bucciarelli and Don Johnson, and Girls' Sports Editor, Linda Pratto.

"WE FINISHED . . . . LET THE PRESSES ROLL!" These are the thoughts of our staff including Sue Warfel, Senior Editor, Sally Huey, her Assistant Editor, Dale Anderson, Underclassmen Editor, and Jerry Sandberg, his Assistant Editor.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Social events are highlights of the school year. Students anticipate these gala affairs, because they know that fun will be had by all from the beginning to the end of the enjoyable evening.

Mr. Football Queen and Court

MR. FOOTBALL DANCE BEGINS NEW ERA OF SOCIAL EVENTS

Mr. W. W. Johnson, student council advisor, stands beside the tiger which crouched near the bandstand at the "Mr. Football" Dance. This tiger previously was on the A Cappella Choir float which won first place in the "Mr. Football" Parade.

Buddy Everett and his orchestra provided the music for the student council "Mr. Football" Dance which was held in the Girls' Gymnasium.

Since this was West High's first year, the "Mr. Football" Game and Dance took the place of homecoming activities.

The "Mr. Football" King and Queen, John Honiotes and Sue Warfel, and their dates, Sandy Hinton and Wayne Videtich, take the floor to lead a dance while their "subjects" look on.

MR. FOOTBALL ACTIVITIES ABOUND WITH SCHOOL SPIRIT

The Freshman-Sophomore Dean, Mr. Robert C. Mitchell, is wheeled onto the floor by the school nurse, Mrs. Majorie Nance, at Joliet West's "Mr. Football" pep assembly.

The big moment finally arrives as Jeff Davis, Master of Ceremonies, crowns West's first "Mr. Football" Queen, Sue Warfel.

School loyalty is easy to recognize but difficult to explain or measure. This, West High's first year, has seen the birth of many interesting and beneficial traditions that are vitally important to school spirit.

The "Mr. Football" King, Queen, and Court stand before their "subjects" after many days of waiting and hoping. Sandy Woldt, April Stevens, Sue Warfel, John Honiotis, Kay Booras, and Cindy Klootwyk.

The West Tiger rests a few moments between cheers to watch the game.

GAA PRESENTS "ONCE UPON A TIME"

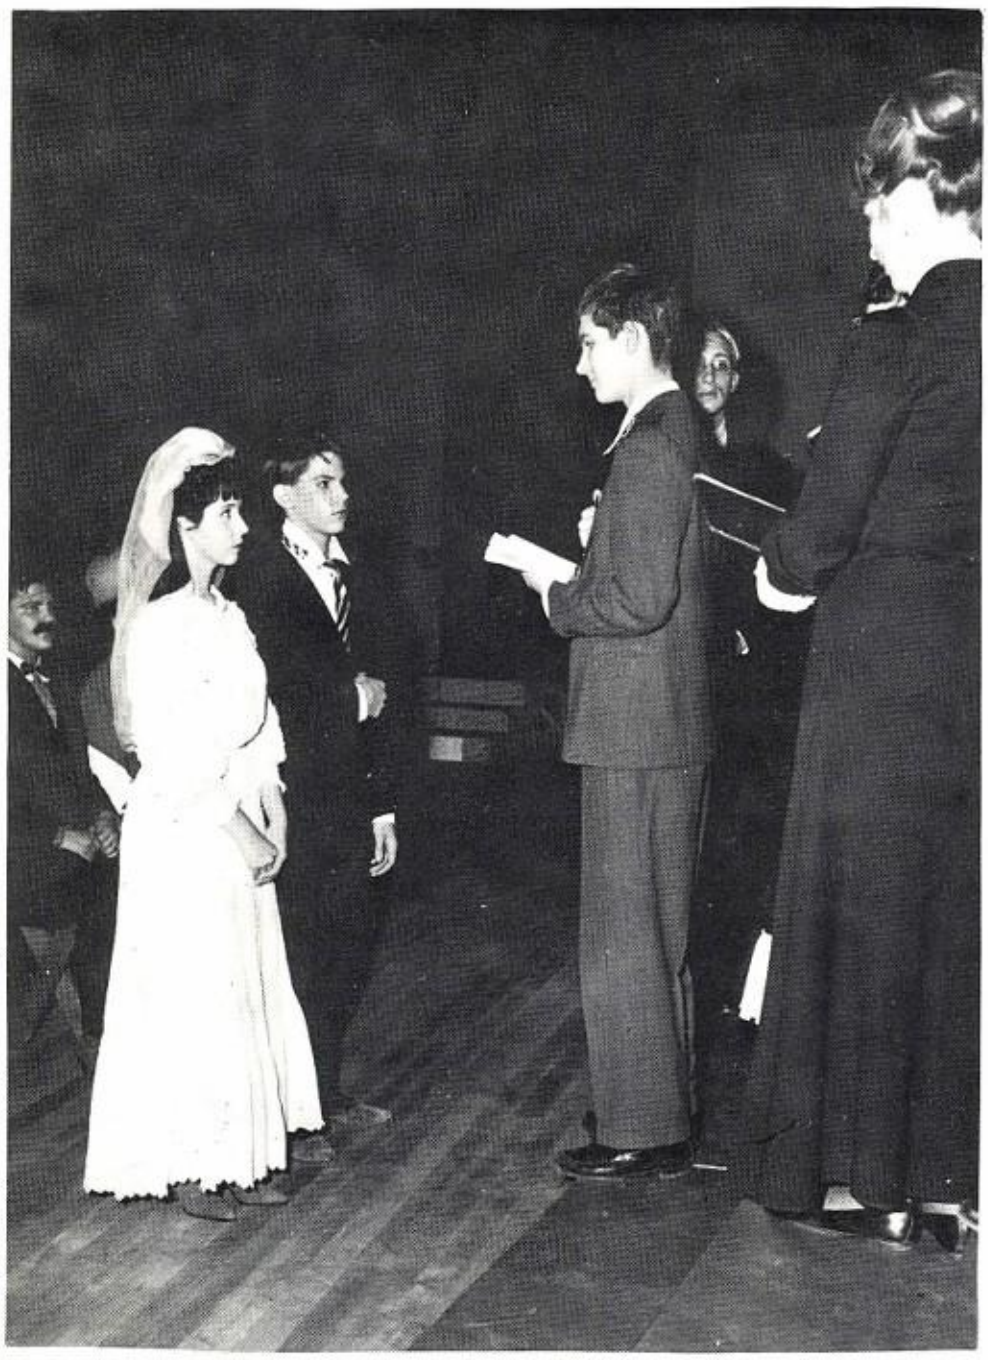
The Girls' Athletic Association presented its first annual GAA Dance to the theme, "Once Upon A Time". Drawings and models of well known fairy tales were the decoration highlights of the dance. The Orchestra of Bill Carnegie presented the music for the extremely successful climax to TWIRP season.

Joliet West's attractive exchange student from Brazil, Celina Varela, and her date waltz smoothly to the music of Bill Carnegie and his Orchestra.

"Jack's beanstalk" stretches into the clouds as couples dance serenely by.

SPEECH ACTIVITIES CLUB



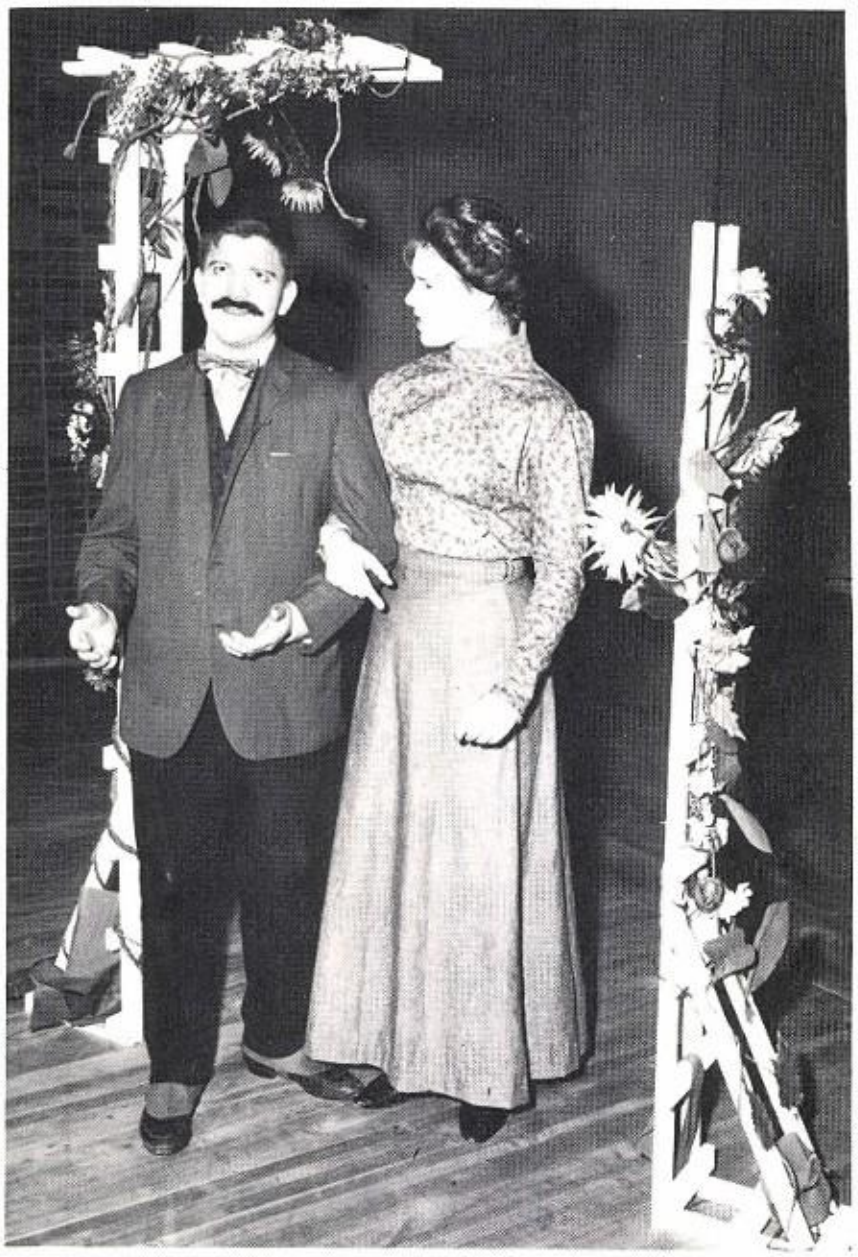
Stellar characters Emily Webb (Kathy Rogers) and George Gibbs (Charles Marting) stand solemnly as the Stage Manager (Mark Pederson) performs the marriage ceremony, assisted by the Choir which sings softly in the background.

Just two years ago "Life" magazine stated: "In the quarter of a century since it was written, 'Our Town' has won the heart of America because it talks to the heart. It has become the nation's most performed play, given last year by 895 different groups. 'Our Town' talks of birth and death in only one New England village—but our town is everybody's town." On a much smaller scale, "Our Town" can truly be said to have won the hearts of the people of Joliet.

"Our Town" was written by Thornton Wilder and requires no scenery. Thornton Wilder lived in China for a time and it was there that he became acquainted with a theatre far different from the one he had known in the United States. The Chinese theatre used no scenery and a black coated Property Man moved about the stage arranging simple props, such as chairs and tables. Later, when he wrote "Our Town," Thornton Wilder combined the American people with the bare Chinese stage and added a Stage Manager who in reality was a modified Property Man.

The smooth and easy-going Mr. Webb (Don Hagen) stands contently and prepares to point out an objection as his wife (Tina Wood) tells him a few things about his courting days.

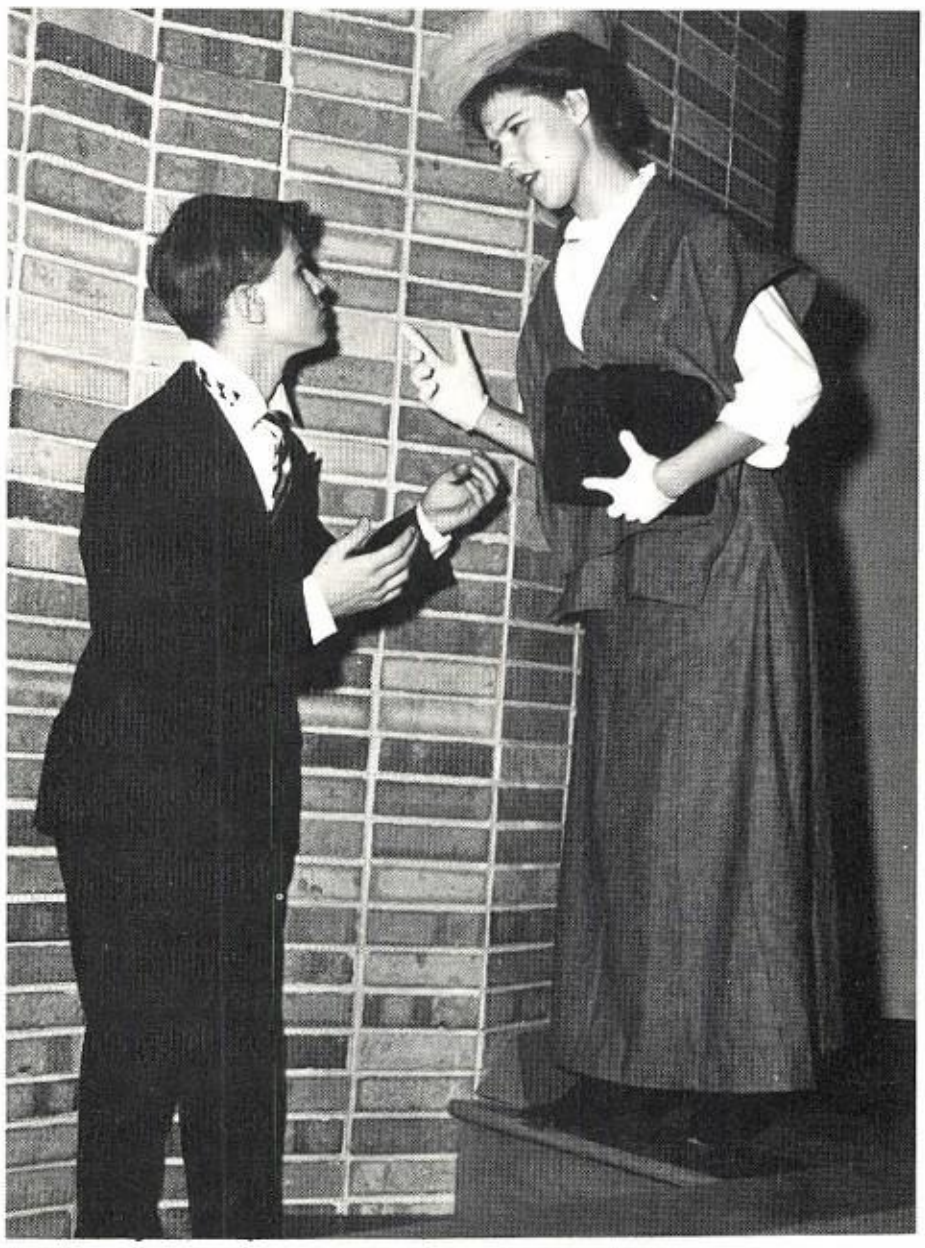
MAKES "OUR TOWN" YOUR TOWN



Dr. Gibbs (Jack Fulsom) and his wife (Linda Lindblom) stroll peacefully through the garden discussing the future plans of their son, George (Charles Marting).

The Stage Manager (Mark Pederson) prepares to address the audience.

George Gibbs (Charles Marting) and the new Mrs. Gibbs (Kathy Rogers) leave the church happily but a little uncertain.



George's mother (Linda Lindblom) convinces him that he should not stop the wedding because he is nervous.

THE YEARBOOK STAFF PRESENTS J.T. WEST'S

The old fashioned Christmas tree, complete with popcorn strings and presents, stands majestically as the formal couples dance to the music of Bill Carnegie and his orchestra.

The Yearbook Staff, under the direction of Mr. Charles Baker, presented the first "Alpha Omega" Winter Formal to the theme, "Night Before Christmas". Although the budget was kept to a minimum by borrowing decorations for the dance from staff members, very effective lighting and a unique display of things reminiscent of an old fashioned Christmas lended to the novel effect.

Kay Booras and Judy Lutz, co-editors of the Yearbook, exhibit the name, "Alpha Omega", as Mr. Baker explains its selection.

Freshmen Sue Schiek and Mary Jorgensen carry on typical women's chatter as their senior escorts, Jim Kilgos and Jim Beach stand speechless with wonder. Jackie McComb and her escort, Ron Carloss, admire the presents and holly that adorn the sleigh.

FIRST WINTER FORMAL: "NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS"

Caroling angels and a sleigh filled with presents were among the many points of interest at the dance.

A rocking chair for tired chaperones stands empty before the fireplace as three stockings hang from the mantel awaiting the arrival of Christmas.

Couples gather in the refreshment room for punch and Christmas cookies while the band takes a break.

The Music Man Brings

Bruce Brooke as Harold Hill, and Janice Tonelli as Marion Paroo.

Ron Aeschilman as Marcellus Washburn, and Marie Baitinger as Ethel Toffelmier.

When Harold Hill, played by Bruce Brooke, arrived in River City, Iowa, he convinced the townspeople of their need for a boys' band. Just before sneaking out of town with the money that was collected to buy instruments, Harold realized that he was in love with the local librarian, Marion Paroo, played by Janice Tonelli. Harold's intended plot was discovered, but he succeeded in assembling a band with the instruments that came on the "Wells Fargo Wagon."

Jyme Rafter as Eulalie Mackencknie Shinn, and Ed Richards as Mayor Shinn.

Linda Bolling as Zaneeta Shinn, and Greg Bennett as Tommy Djilas.

River City To Joliet

Marie Baitinger, Roberta Hylka, Jyme Rafter, Linda Spires, and Karen McAlister comprise Mrs. Shinns dance group.

"Ya got trouble!" The River City folk listen intently as Harold Hill explains how a band would keep their boys out of the pool halls.

The quartet, Mike Bolos, Jeff Davis, Howard Raddatz, and Theo Polley, makes up the body of the River City school board.

Adding to the great success of the Operetta were Howard Manthei as Constable Locke, Sue Richards as Mrs. Paroo, Ina Powell as Gracie Shinn, Marie Baitinger, and Ron Aeschliman.

Meredith Wilson, author, composer, and lyricist of "The Music Man," was born in Iowa, where the musical comedy takes place. His wife, half French and half Russian, encouraged him to write it. She wanted him to use the typewriter and the piano simultaneously. Another reason why he wrote this musical comedy was because he had collected a trunk full of songs through his years as a song writer, and they had never quite been appreciated. This seemed like a perfect opportunity to use them, so he wrote "The Music Man."

ADVANCED GIRLS' CHORUS: "GIRLS' NIGHT OUT"

Jerri Lovati strings streamers to decorate the west wall of the cafeteria. Travel posters scattered at intervals help portray the Parisian effect.

The picture backdrop begins to take shape as preparations draw to a close.

Homework and exams are unheard of, as the band plays on.

"Holiday in Paris" was the theme of the semi-formal dance presented by the Advanced Girls' Chorus, under the direction of Mr. Roy Johnson. This now popular dance is sure to become an annual affair at J.T. West.

The ever popular grand march proceeds undaunted by any obstacle.

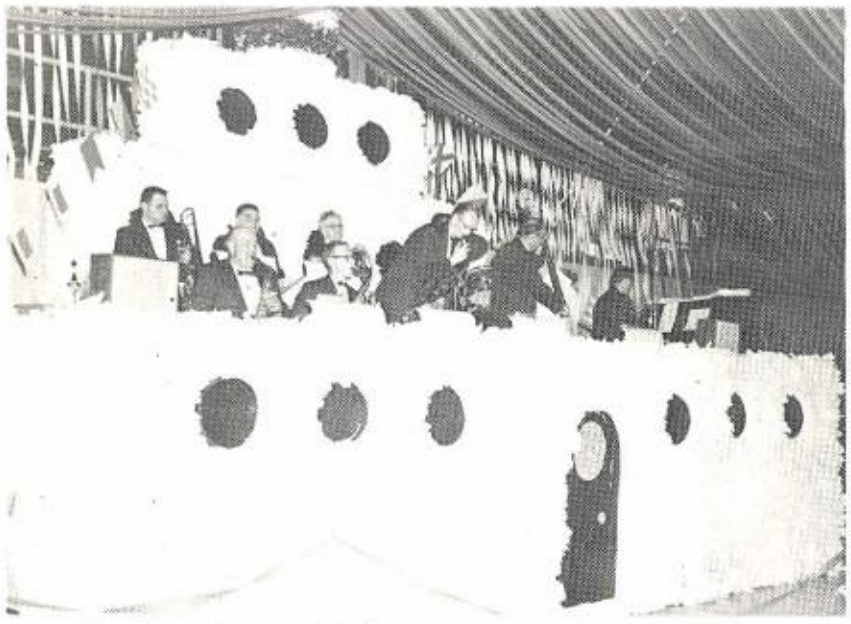
ANNOUNCING INTRODUCTION OF NDCC

Three lone couples walk silhouetted against the huge American flag which overlooks a peaceful garden scene, complete with a wishing well.

The theme for the 1965 NDCC Military Ball at Joliet Township West was, "Let Freedom Ring". True to military custom, all committees, from decorations to coat check, were selected months in advance so that work would proceed in an orderly manner. Cadet Lieutenant Colonel Mike Shuler, assisted by Cadet Major Terry Severson, served as the general chairmen of the ball in charge of seeing that all committees were co-ordinated to insure a dance beyond comparison.

Cadet officers Lieutenant Colonel Morris Maitland, Major Keith Sweetwood, Captain Philip Kouchoukos, Captain Tom Gruenwald, Captain Joseph Trizna, Captain Bill Genda, Captain David Barns, and Captain Bruce MacQueen lead the grand march accompanied by their dates. The grand march is the highlight of the evening as the ROTC officers form the traditional honor arch of sabres through which the Battalion Sponsor leads the march.

Bon Voyage Bids Farewell to



The Roy Gordon Orchestra serenaded the traditional formal affair from the "ship's bridge". At eleven bells, the ship's horn sounded and smoke poured from the stack. Portholes and signal flags completed the nautical scene.

The annual Junior-Senior Prom is the highlight of the school social calendar. The Juniors, under the supervision of the counselors, plan and decorate the Prom as a final gift to the graduating Seniors.

The Junior Class Officers begin their selection of Prom committee chairmen late in December. Sue Sharp and Craig McKeown were the General Chairmen of the Prom of '64. The General Chairmen organize and coordinate the individual committees under their supervision.

After months of planning, the Prom is finally assembled the Friday of the dance. The Juniors are able to "ditch" legally and escape from their classrooms for one short day to decorate. The Prom gradually takes shape as the decoration crews labor late into the afternoon. The many hours of debating, planning, arguing, and, at last, decorating draw to a close as the dance finally begins.

The Dutch scene in the East hall was an interesting place to stop for conversation. A windmill with revolving blades and a tulip garden were surrounded by a white picket fence.

Two palm trees and a grass shack composed the tropical island scene that could be viewed from the "ship's deck".

The Graduating Class Of '64

The "Golden Gate Bridge" completed the skyline of the San Francisco scene on the west wall. Italian lights were suspended along the span of the bridge to highlight the silhouette.

"Daisies Won't Tell" Announces The Coming Of Spring

On April 24 the Sophomore Chorus presented its annual semi-formal dance, "Femmes Fancy." The combined gyms were decorated with hundreds of paper daisies to the theme "Daisies Won't Tell." Couples danced to the music of Bill Carnegie and his orchestra. This popular spring dance was planned and decorated entirely by sophomores, and it is the first social event that they present to the school.

Debby Young and Linda Kubinski decorate the archway which will serve as the picture backdrop.

Jan Nolden, Marie Sclarounos, Sue Jones, and Sue Kempe search for a place to "plant" a daisy.

The grand march is led by Carol Gursh, Larry Lindstrom, Linda Vernel, Tony Rousonelos, Sue Bishup, Joe Marconi, Sue Wehrspann, and Ronald Silc.

Armistice Day Assembly Impressive Tribute To Veterans

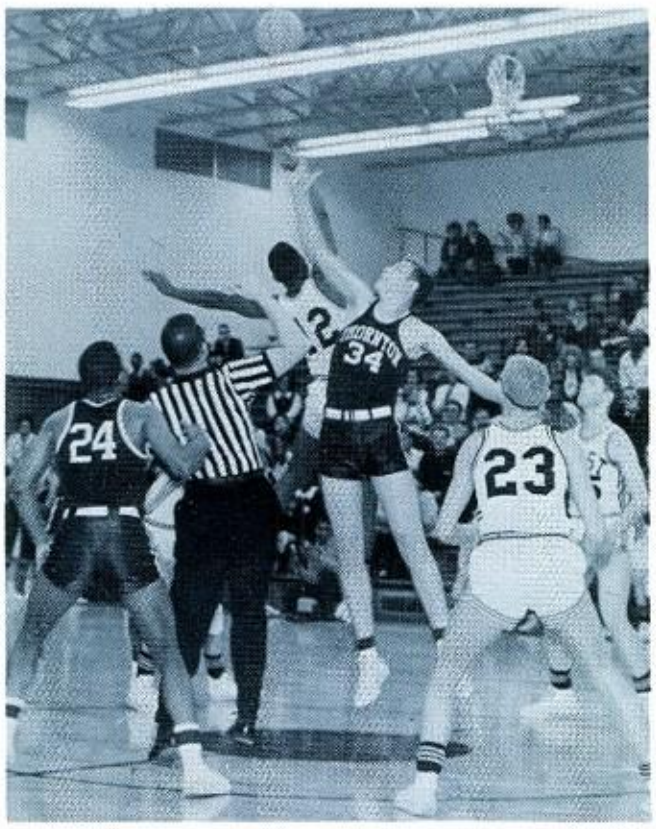
The guest of honor stand as the N.D.C.C. Color Guard prepares to present the flag.

This year marked the initiation of the annual Veterans' Day assembly at J.T. West. The students gathered in the gymnasium to honor the Veterans, both living and dead, of American Wars. A short, but inspiring musical program was followed by a guest speaker. Rabbi Hershman presented this year's stirring message to the studentry.

Mr. Roy Johnson leads the combined chorus, orchestra, and band in a moving arrangement of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic".

Mike Shuler, followed by Terry Severson, Sam Jones, and Linda Meier, leads the N.D.C.C. as the band plays the "Stars and Stripes Forever."

SPORTS



Much of West High's extra curricular activity is centered around sports events. Pep and enthusiasm is observed from the beginning to the end of our games.

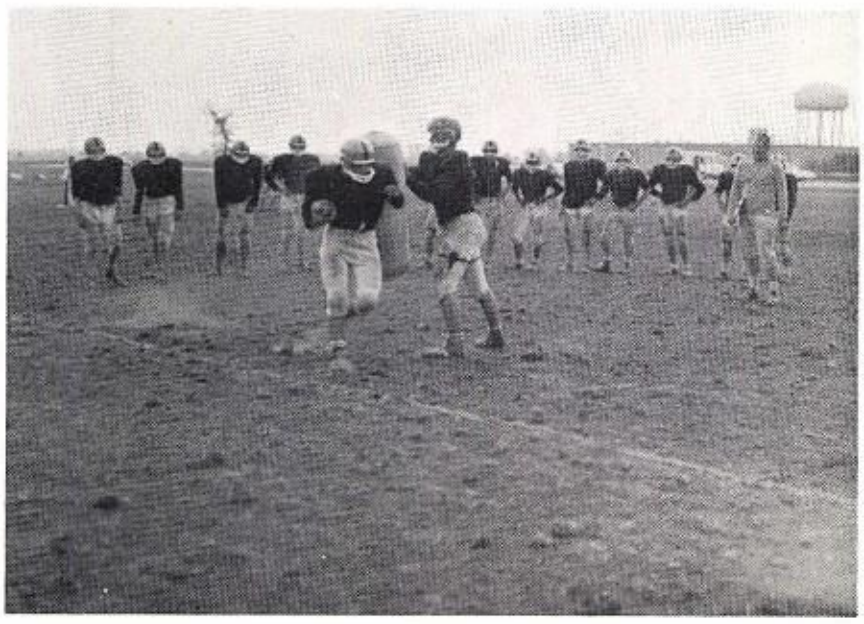
"Only three and a half months to go." This was a common saying during the summer months when a team must practice on determination alone.

Tigers work hard during the summer months.



Teams Are Made

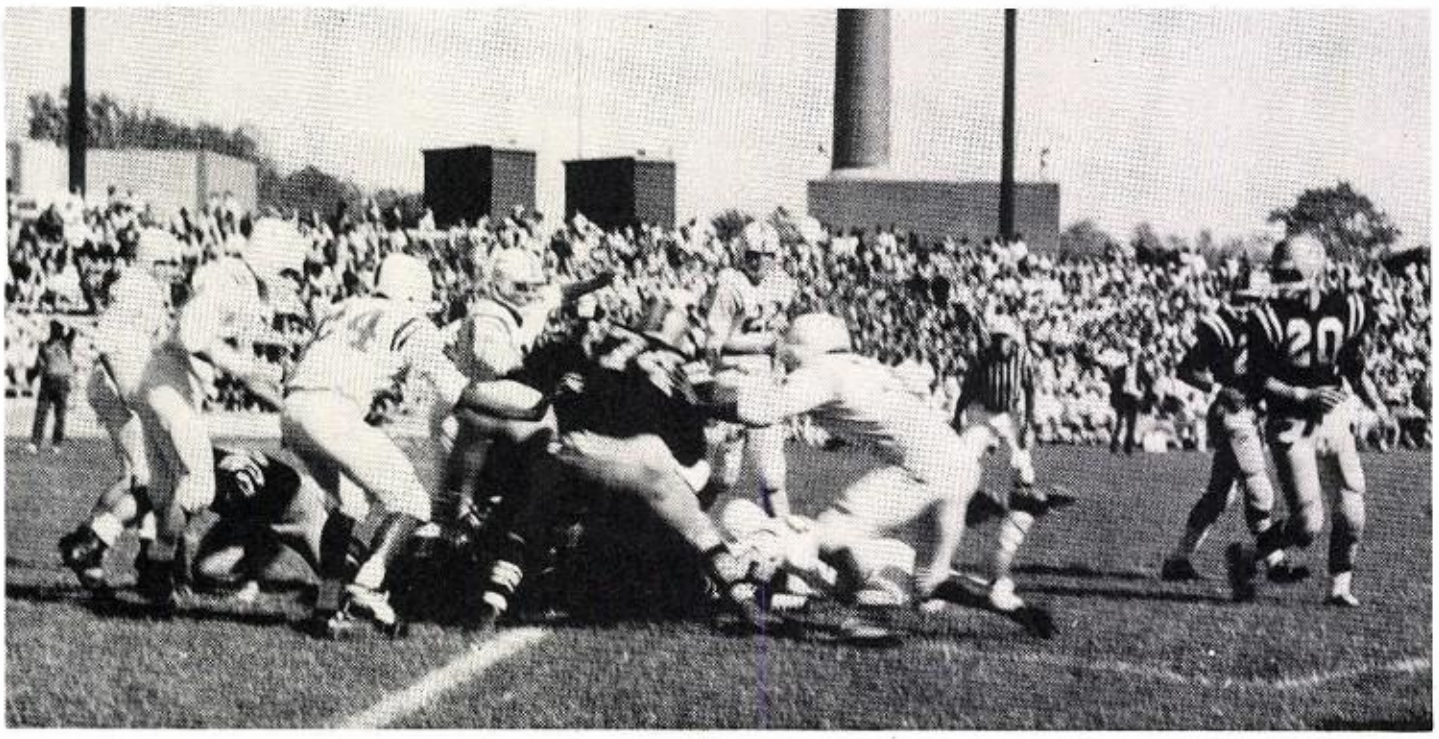
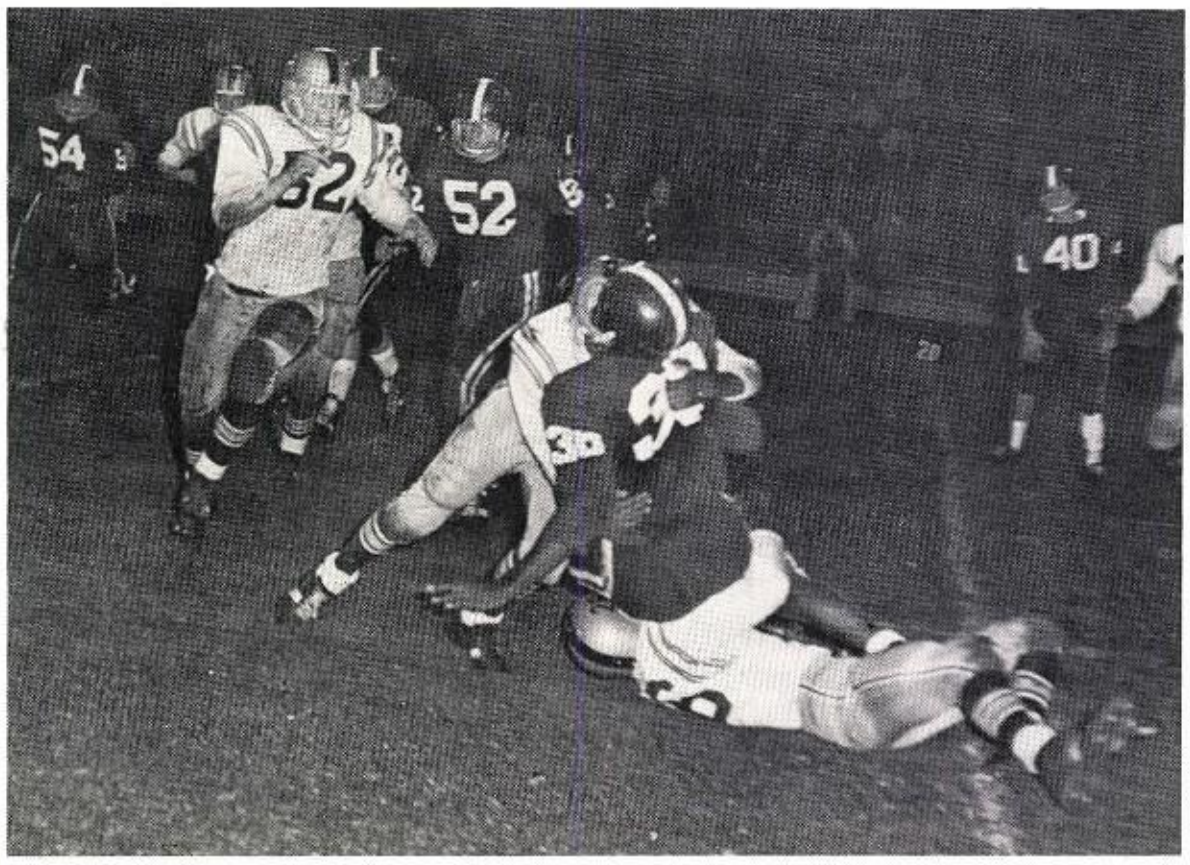
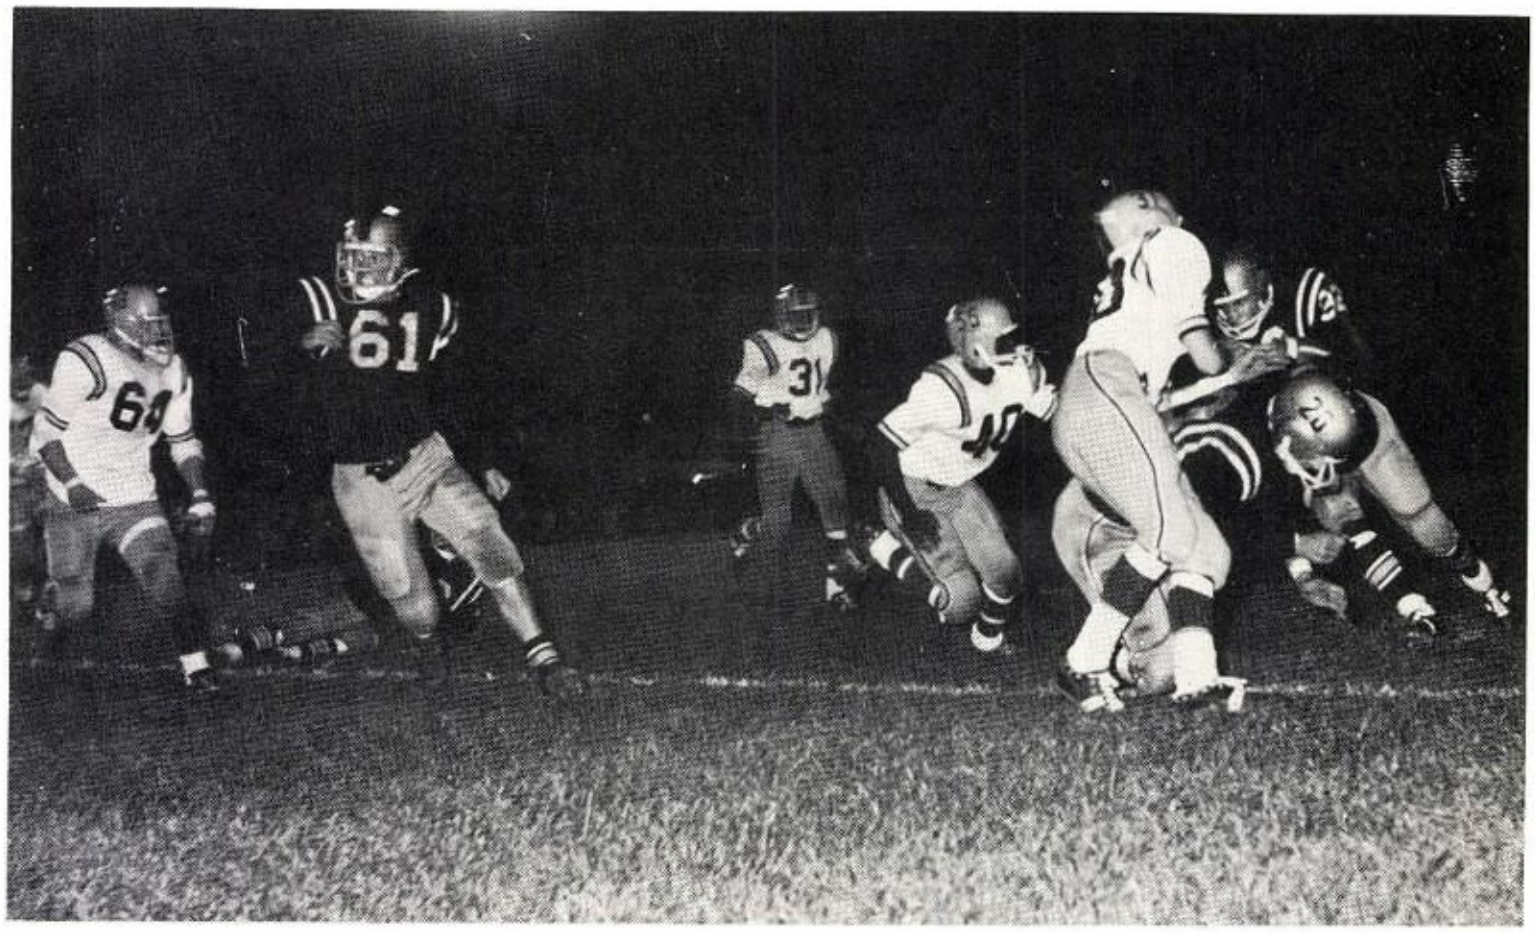
John Lapshanski (No. 20), hands off to Wayne Johnson, who crashes through the line for a first down in the Blue Island game. Fine blocking and hard running were the reasons that led to a victory.



A Thornton ball carrier is thrown for a loss by two West defenders. In the back ground is Al Buehler (No. 52) rushing up to make sure he stays down.

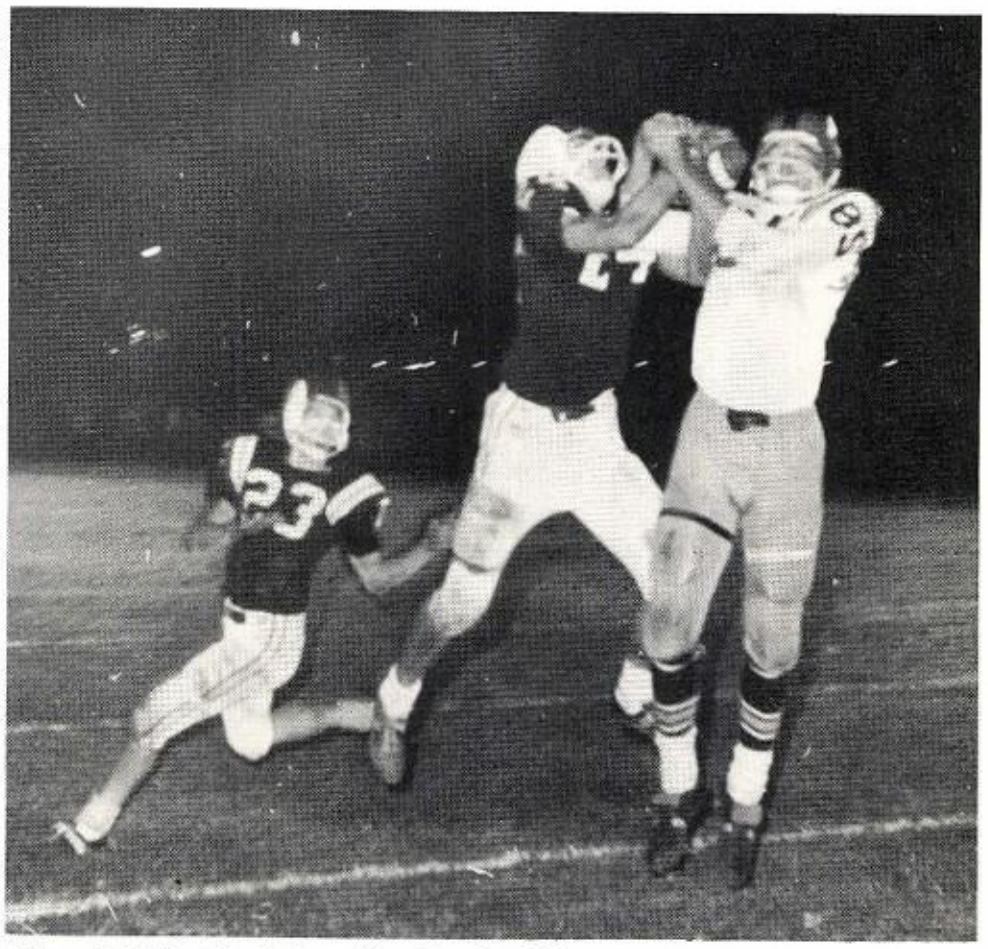


PUSH ON - KEEP DRIVING



Tiger fullback, Dean Macris (No. 32) gets a good block from John Lapshanski (No. 20) and drives his way forward for another substantial gain in the inner-city game against East.

West High's star halfback, Jim Nicholson, is being pursued by a number of Joliet East defenders, but he gets away for good yardage before being caught from behind.



It's a fight for the ball as Ron Bucciarelli and a Lockport defender go up for the ball in the Lockport game.

Mike Cookas goes around left end for big yardage in the East game. It was tough, hard running, displayed here by Cookas that helped the Tigers to a 20-0 victory over East.

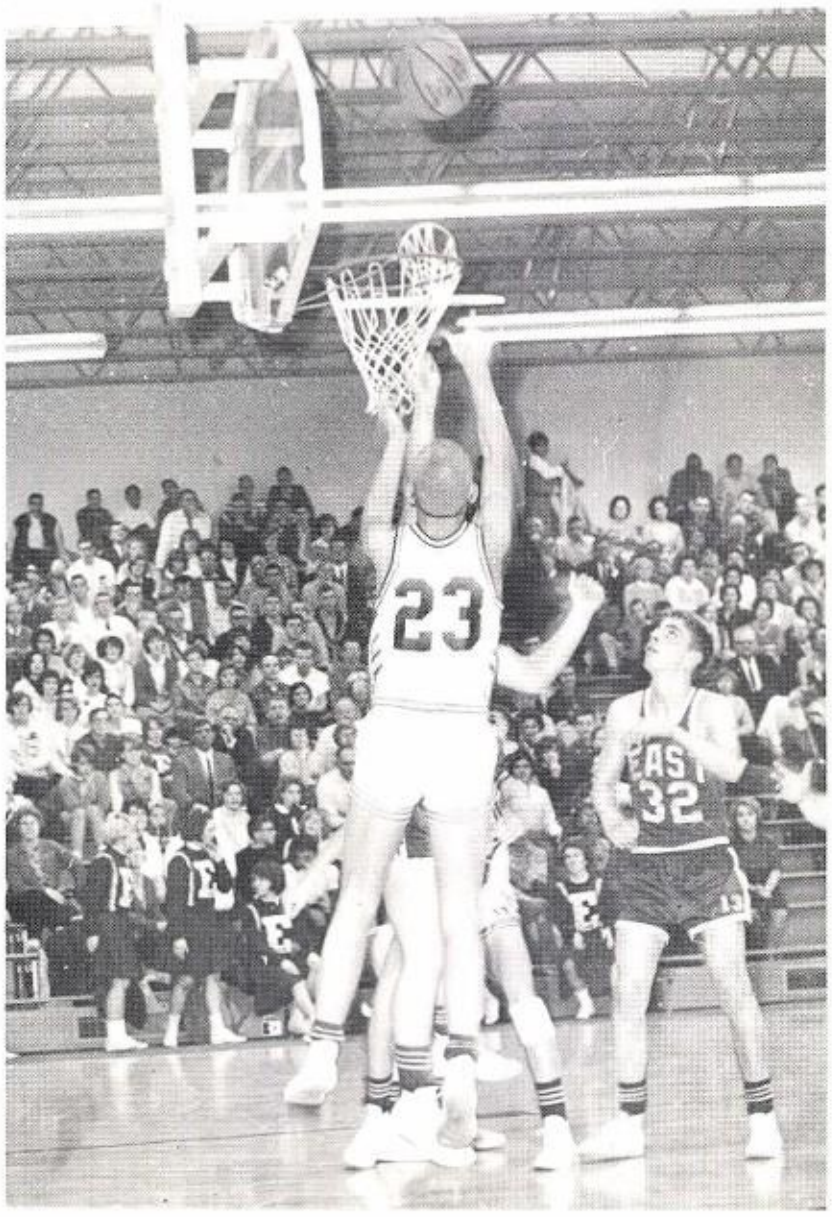
Coach Leslie gives Bob Hodgdon a few of the finer points of the game of basketball, as Ass't. Coach Gutierrez waits patiently to add an additional comment.

The opening tip-off initiates the beginning of the season for Joliet West.

WEST MEN ON THE MOVE

Dave Koivula plays the role of "Fancy Dan" as he dribbles down court against Kankakee.



Its Hodgdon from the side again for two points in the tilt against East High.

Walt Kimble is shown here jumping high for the tip, while Bary Spiers waits for the ball to the far left.

THERE IS NO RESTING IN BASKETBALL

Dave Koivula shows his ability as he sinks two in a row in the game against Elgin.

Kevin Kelly goes up for the ball while Bob Hodgdon waits to get into position, but Thornton's No. 35 doesn't seem to be too enthused.

As it appears, Thornton got the tip. But Bob Hodgdon is about to see what he can do about the situation.

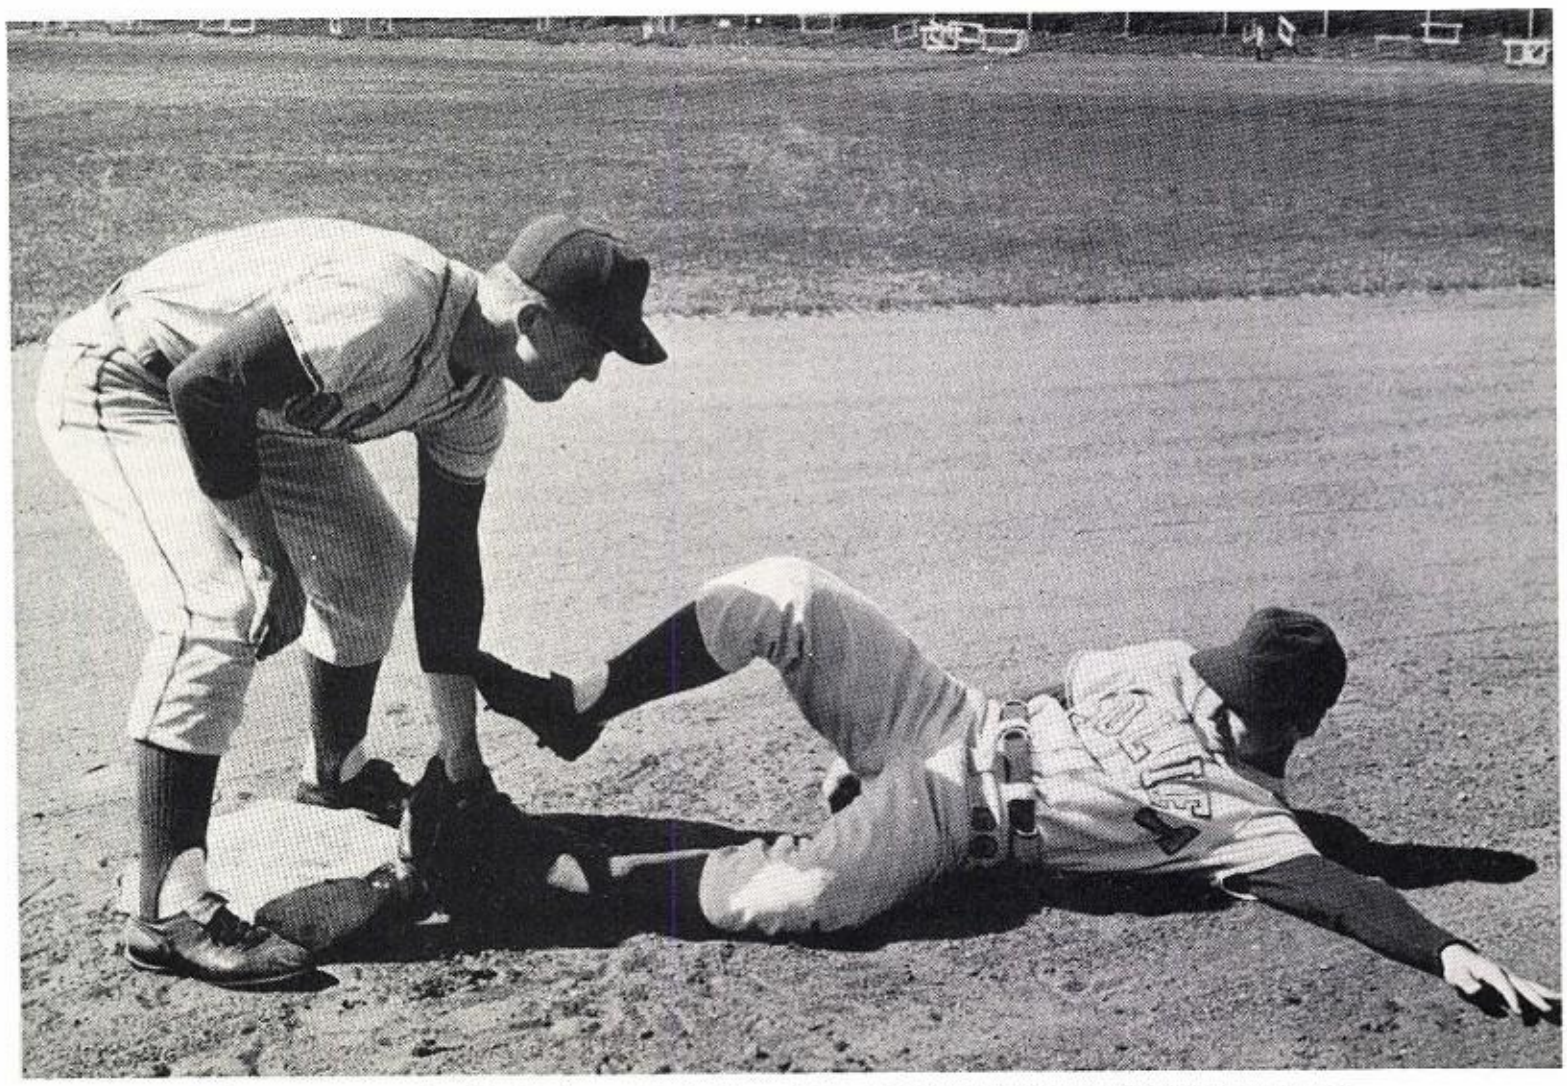
TEAM WORK + EFFORT = WIN

Joliet Township Baseball Squad was made up of a group of very talented young players. They are—ROW ONE: Dave Efner, Joe Enich, Marc Musser, Harry Woldt, Ken Angus, and Larry Gura. ROW TWO: Frank Metes, Bill Sudakis, Jim Baskerville, Jerry Klover, Bob Brenczweski, Jim Weakman, Bob Laatz, and Gary Evans. ROW THREE: Manager Don Hazen, Manager Stanley Allen, Jim Randolph, Lee Halderson, Dale Spier, Nick Cookas, Daryl Alderson, Paul Shimek, and Coach George Fahrenholz.

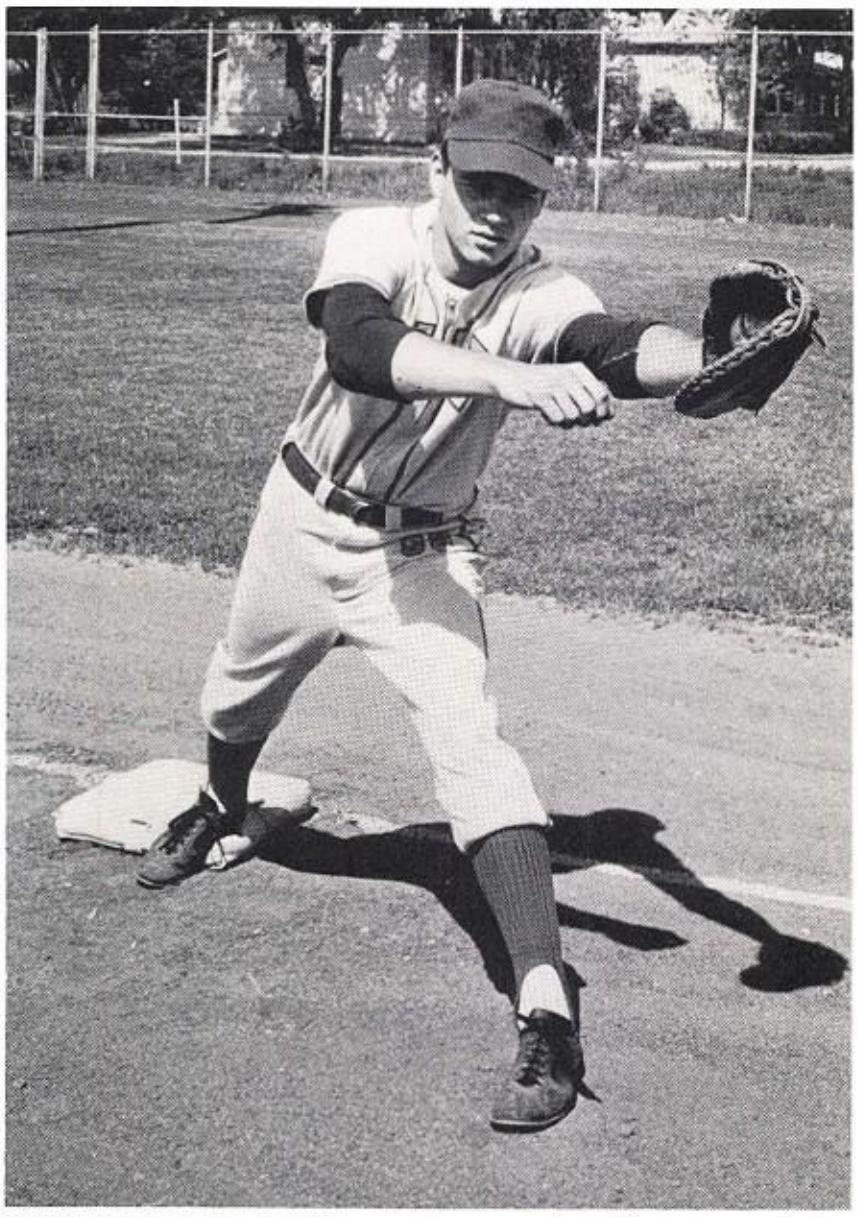


The proper way to slide is demonstrated here by a member of the varsity baseball squad.

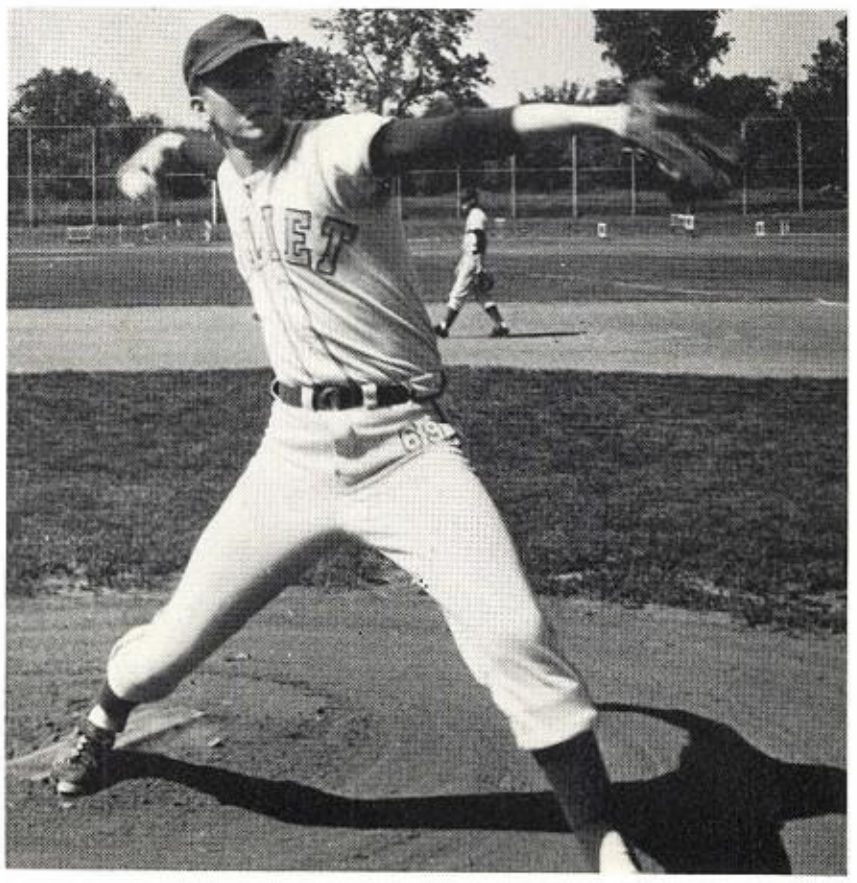
"INDIVIDUALS MUST CONTRIBUTE THEIR SHARE"

Infielder, Dave Efner, bends real low, anxiously awaiting the ball to come to him so he can make the play.

The young man holding the bat, Daryl Alderson, gets set in the batters box, and patiently waits for the pitch.



First baseman, Frank Metes, makes an extra effort to catch the ball, which he obviously did.



Dale Spier rears back to throw another one of his blazing fast balls.

Cheerleading Is A Full

Sponsor: Mrs. Fritz

During the Spring, six girls are chosen for Varsity Squad, while Frosh-Soph are chosen in the Fall. Girls must have enthusiasm, cheering ability, audience contact, and neatness. They are chosen by faculty members, coaches, varsity athletes, and out going cheerleaders plus cheerleader's sponsor who is Mrs. Fritz.

This year the squad is working under the demerit system. Demerits are being given for tardiness and unexcused absence. A total of three unexcused absences will result in automatic dismisal from the squad.

For the first time in Mr. Swank's experience of cross country coaching and the first time to his knowledge, they have had cheerleaders at a cross country meet.

Varsity cheerleaders from front to back are Linda Lamberson, Maureen Baillies, Kathy Allen, Louise Wilson. In back are Linda Pratto and Cindy Klootwyk.

New Members Put Spark In Initiation

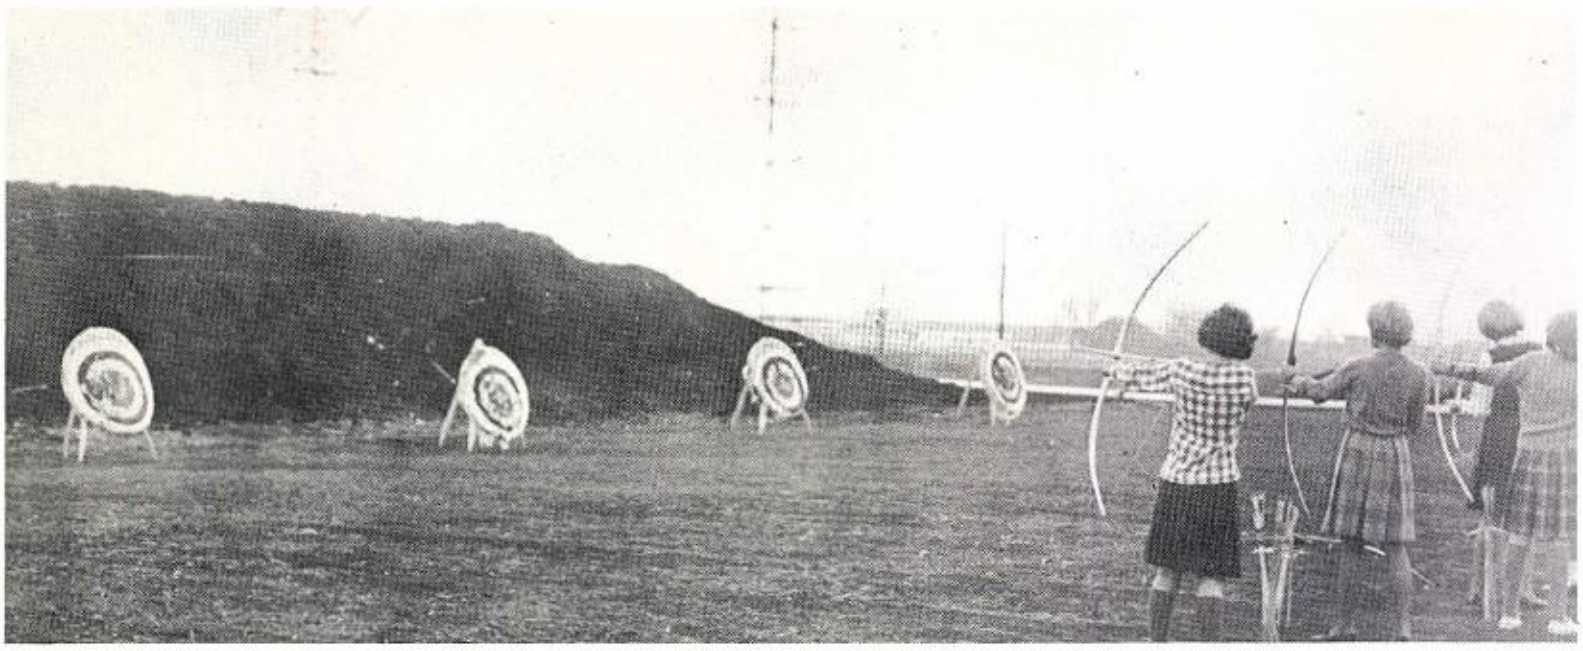
Initiation ceremonies include the induction of new members and the announcement of new officers. Jan VanDerlinden, Sue Gregory, Donna Price, Darlene Koenig, Jean Frank, and Linda Meier take part in induction ceremonies.

The Girls Athletic Association improves not only physical dexterity, but also character and ways of getting along with other people. There are three to four activities planned for every week for a period of nine weeks.

G.A.A. also helps these girls to become better citizens, to make friends, and to become better leaders.

The newly initiated Freshmen members are shown receiving their pins.

G.A.A. Gets Into Full Swing With Fall Activities



Girls try their luck at "hitting the bull's eye" as they participate in G.A.A. archery activities.

Football? No, Speed-a-way. It's similar to football, but you don't use your hands. This is another favorite enjoyed by G.A.A. members.

Tennis anyone? Ann Tapio and Dace Dindonis still get their tennis in even though they are out of season.

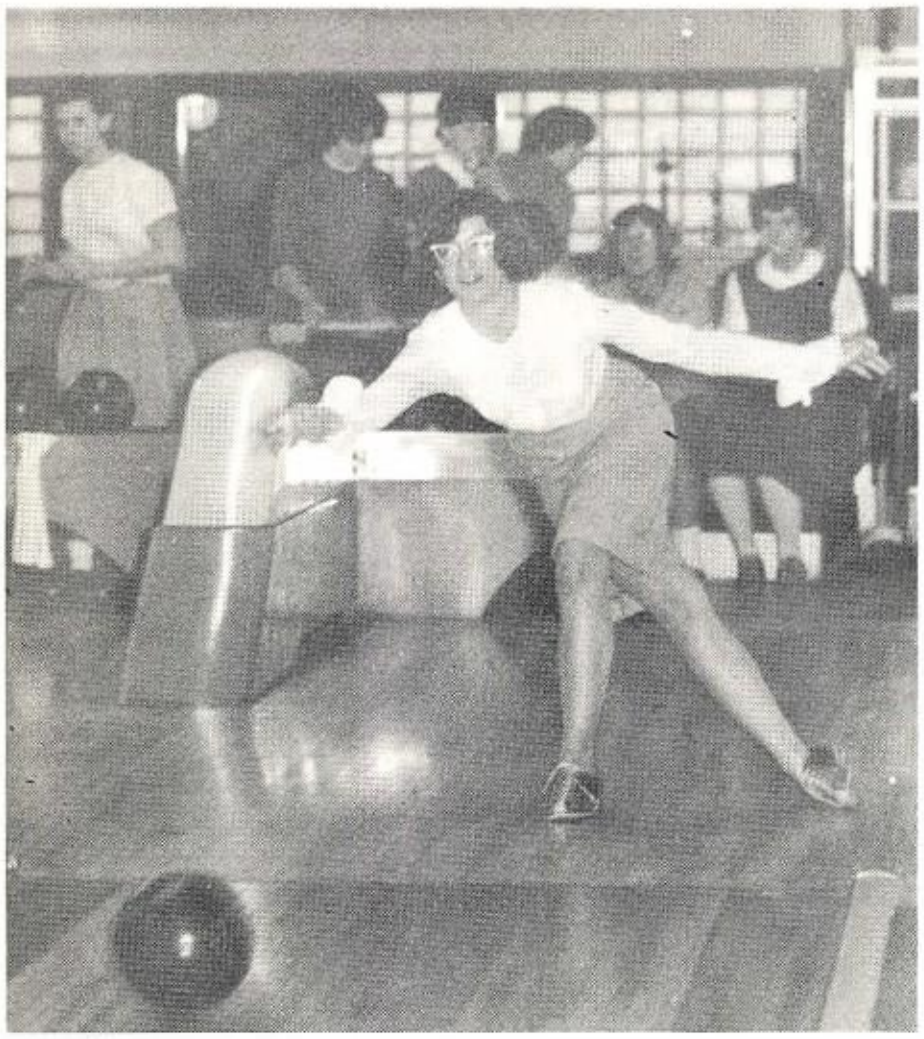
G.A.A. Girls Achieve Grace and Coordination

Mary Smith and Joan Wright try their skill in knocking most of the pins to make a perfect score in bowling.

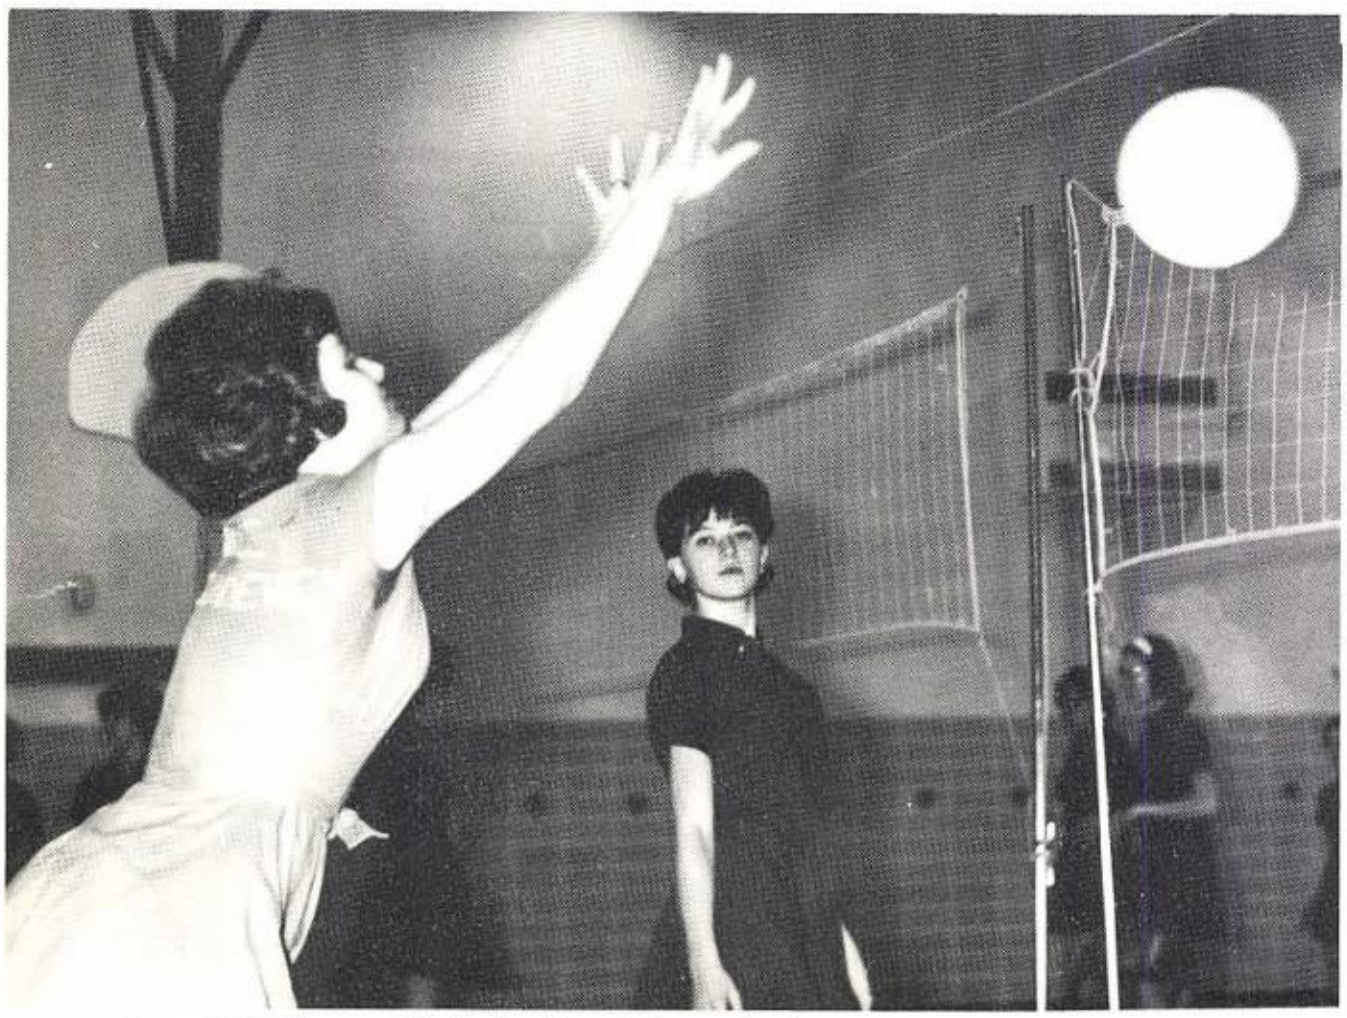
Jump ball! Barb Wicke and Darlene Brugnara practice their skill in a game of basketball.

G.A.A. Activities Offer Fun And Variety



Thursday night is bowling for G.A.A. girls, and Jerri Lovati is no exception. With excellent form, she is confident of a strike.

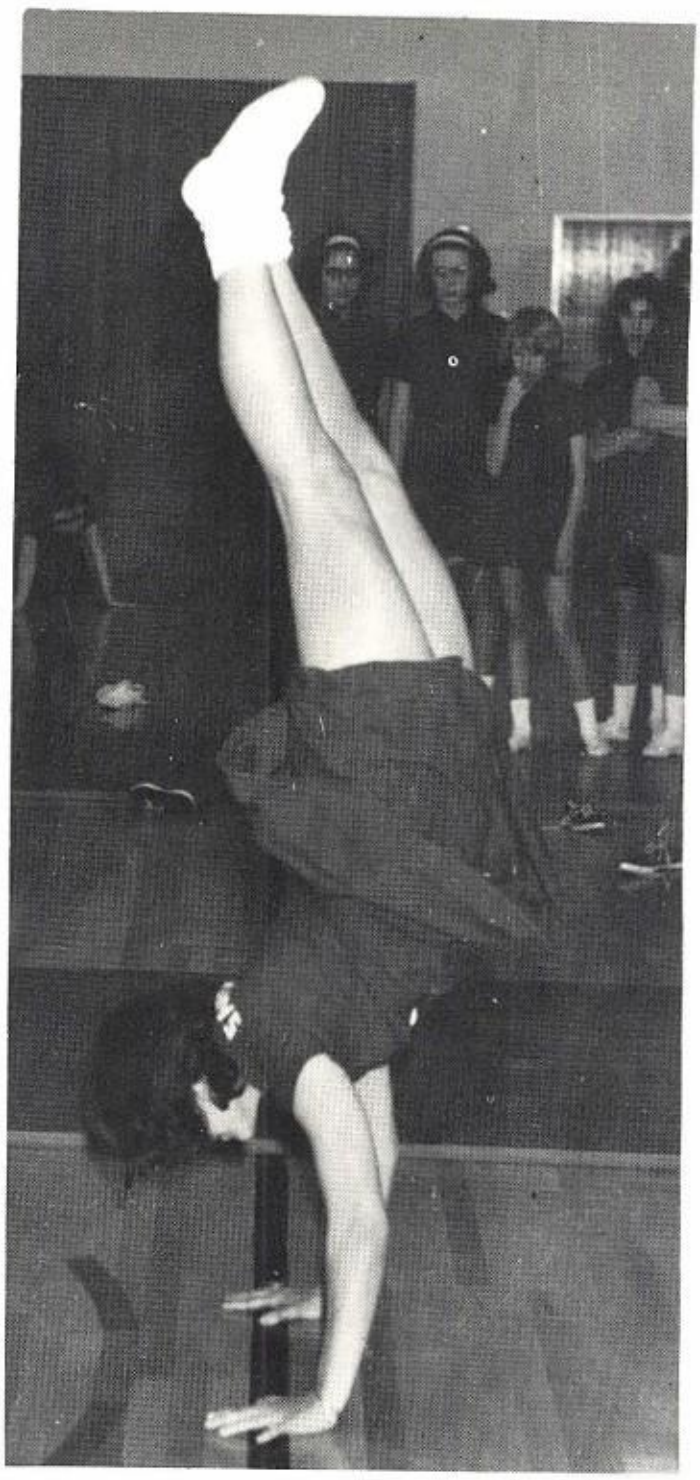
Marianne Fazio and Diana Roberts watch as Linda Pratto shows her skills in doing pike jumps.



Lynnette Lightner watchs Janice Vroegindewey, hoping she slams the volley ball over the net to win the game for their team.

Girls Demonstrate Athletic Ability

For-r-r-re! Jodi Basinger demonstrates one of the many golf stances during pre-season practice.



Hands up! No, it's hands down for Sandy Woldt in tumbling as she demonstrates a hand stand.

Hurry! Hand me the baton; they're beating us. Linda Forbes, Dace Dindonis, Donna Sealy, and Lory Bewersdorf pose for a new sport in G.A.A. called Track and Field.

FACULTY

A teacher, complete with brief case and coat, enters the classroom ready to begin a new day. Teachers with papers to grade and assignments to prepare are typified by this look of exhaustion at the day's end.

Board of Education

Mr. Richard E. Terry
Principal of Joliet Township High School - West Campus

The Joliet Township High School Board of Education is a group of seven devoted men elected from the district. With a fervor characterized by dedication, the Board assumes the enormous task of establishing school policy, employing personnel, fixing salaries, providing educational equipment, and considering all major problems facing the schools. To handle these and other duties, the Board meets regularly once a month with special meetings and study sessions being called if necessary.

The top administrators of our system carry out their significant work with sound judgment and experienced hands. Added to the tasks normally facing their colleagues throughout the country, these men have been handling the problem of establishing a new school.

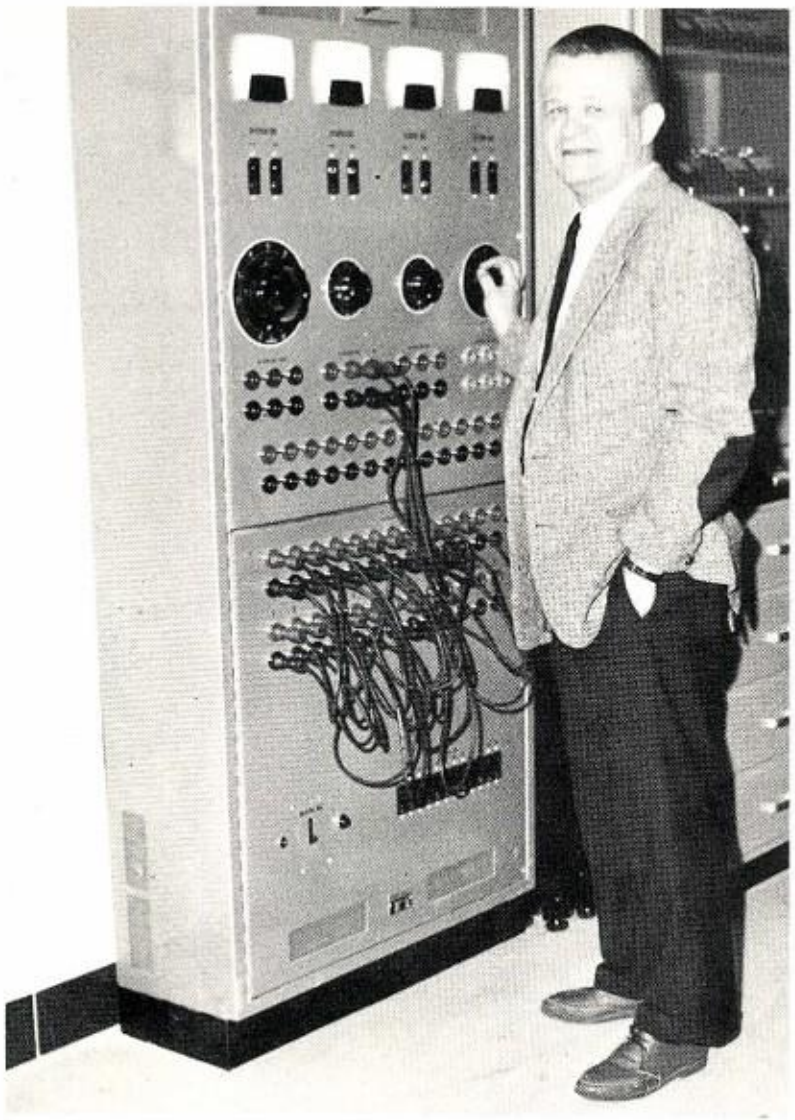
Department Chairmen Guide Educational Progress



Mr. Donald Hopkins
Science

Appointed by the Superintendent, with the approval of the Board of Education, the chairmen of the various departments assume enormous administrative duties. In addition to maintaining a heavy teaching load, they also coordinate the entire teaching program of their respective academic areas. The department chairmen set policy for teaching methods, courses of study, textbooks, and reference materials. They provide for substitute teachers, preside at department meetings, and report regularly to the principal and superintendent. Each chairman devotes his experience, resourcefulness, and capabilities to providing for an effective educational program.

. . . Omega--The End.

Big "C",
Good luck with the girls in the future.
Not that you need it.
I hope we're in the same
College Algebra class next year.
Good Luck

It was hard working on each others sar tests especially Wilbur but we managed. Watch yourself
